PEIPING RED SEAT IN UN BEING DEBATED

Chiang Demands His Armies Get OK For Invasion Of Chinese Mainland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek demanded today that his Nationalist troops be permitted to invade the Chinese Communist mainland and called for a "fighting union of Asiatic countries," including a rearmament Japan.

Chiang also urged U. S. bombing of Communist bases in Manchuria and China with "conventional weapons," but said he did not favor use of the atomic bomb.

The generalissimo asserted that "timely American leadership" of a "fighting union" of non-Communist nations in the Far East would crush the Chinese Communists and spare the world a third world war.

The Nationalist leader estimated that he has more than 1,500,000 guerrillas on the Chinese mainland who would join in an attempt to free China from Red oppression.

He declared that his guerrillas outnumber the Communist troops in South China. He said the number of Red troops in the area is approximately one million.

At the same time, Owen Lattimore, Far East expert cleared by a Senate committee of charges by Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wis., that Lattimore was a "top Soviet agent," urged a new American policy to "retrieve a situation that has been precipitated by a military disaster" in Korea.

Nations withdrawal from Korea, said:

"The future of Asia depends basically on the firmness of American Far Eastern policy rather than on any temporary or local fortunes of war."

"However, should the Communists succeed in consolidating their control of Asia, the vast human potential of a billion Asians may outweigh military advantages elsewhere."

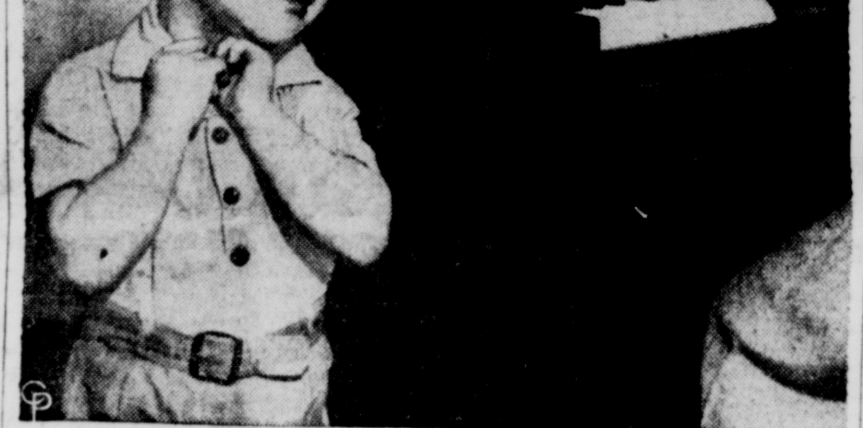

Lattimore said the Communists came to power in China "because people became completely disillusioned" with Chiang's government.

He declared that the U. S. "made a mistake" last Summer in "slapping down" the Indian suggestion that diplomatic discussions be opened up to end the Korean struggle.

Lattimore inferentially urged that the Chinese Communists be admitted to UN membership. He said the UN attempt to end the Korean conflict by peaceful means would be "more pertinent" if the Reds were admitted to membership.

Hornbeck bitterly opposed U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime and UN membership for the Peiping Reds.

"They've not only revealed themselves to be aggressors but they've revealed themselves to have none of the qualifications ordinarily required of a government before you give it recognition as the lawful government."

REDS STOP AT PARALLEL?

13 Eastern Nations Seek Special Resolution In UN

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 11—Thirteen Asiatic and Middle East nations were summoned to a meeting today to whip into shape a resolution seeking a formal truce in Korea under which Communist China's armies would halt at the 38th Parallel.

India's Sir Benegal N. Rau, leader of the group, announced that the resolution will be presented to the United Nations General Assembly late today or tomorrow.

The 13 nations already have addressed an appeal to the Chinese Communists to halt at the Korean demarcation line and Rau said he has received no formal reply from the Peiping government.

The Indian delegate said, however, that he had been told by Wu Hsiu-chuan, chief of the Chinese Communist mission to the UN, that "the United Nations would be able to judge for itself from events in the field what the response to the appeal would be."

RAU POINTED OUT that the Chinese have not yet been reported across the 38th Parallel and added, "I find this encouraging."

He made his comments following an entire Sunday spent in private talks with other delegates, including American and British. Last night he held a meeting with nine of the 13 states backing the resolution.

Whether the draft will include provision for the establishment of a demilitarized zone at the parallel dividing North and South Korea was not known.

However, throughout the talks at the United Nations the Indian delegation has been known to favor such a neutral

Special Truman Message Indicated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The White House indicated today that President Truman may invoke nationwide price-wage controls soon—possibly later this week—and at the same time proclaim a national emergency.

The White House said that there has been "some discussion" for the President to talk to the nation by radio to explain the reasons for these moves and to review the critical world situation.

President Truman called his top economic advisers to the White House today to discuss the impending move. He conferred earlier with his congressional leaders.

Presidential Press Secretary Early told newsmen that the same subject is up for discussion with both groups. Early said:

"The economic discussion is limited to the question of wage and price controls and the methods and procedures of applying such controls."

IN REPLY to newsmen's questions, Early said "there is a large school of thought that controls are inevitable." Early added in response to further questions that "there has been some discussion" for Mr. Truman to go on the air this week to discuss the administration moves to meet the world crisis.

Early emphasized that no decision has been reached as yet. He indicated that when price-wage controls are clamped on they will be sweeping in nature, and will cover the nation's entire economy.

When asked whether controls would extend only to defense materials, Early said:

"I should think the President would be just as much interested in the cost of food and other essentials of life as he would be in defense materials."

Early said that the President was discussing with the congressional "big four" the question of invoking a national emergency. To the afternoon meeting scheduled for 4 p. m., the President summoned these top advisers:

NATIONAL SECURITY Resources Board Chairman Symington, Foreign Affairs Special Adviser Averell Harriman, Economic Counselors Leon Keyserling, John Clark and Roy Bough, Economic Stabilizer Alan Valentine, Economist Griffith Johnson, Economic General Counsel Francis Whitaker, Price Administrator Michael DiSalle, Wage Board Chief Cyrus Ching, and Economic Adviser Geoffrey Baker.

Meanwhile, a bloc of purse-string-holding senators demanded that the President declare the emergency immediately.

Sen. Knowland, (R) Calif., a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, coupled his demand with a proposal the President issue new orders to the Seventh Fleet to blockade the China mainland.

Knowland said a blockade, however, should permit Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa to launch an attack on China if they wish.

Sniping At Acheson May Be Boomerang

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Senior Republican leaders in the Senate are cautioning angry colleagues today against making careless attacks on Secretary of State Acheson which "might boomerang to hurt the GOP."

Already there is a sharp division in Republican ranks on the wording of the anti-Acheson resolution now being drafted for consideration at a conference of all Republican senators, probably tomorrow.

But more sober judgment, offered primarily by Sen. Milliken, (R) Colo., conference chairman, is that the target should be the State Department rather than any single, appointed head.

A four-member drafting committee meets today to work out final language of the resolution. It includes Milliken and Sens. Ives, (R) N. Y., the original author; Floor Leader Wherry, (R) Neb., and Smith, (R) N. J. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the titular party leader, already has spoken out against foreign policy attacks at this time of national emergency.

Civilian Defense Parley Called

Ben Gordon, director of Civilian Defense for Pickaway County, has called a special meeting on CD planning for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in council chambers, Circleville City Hall.

Gordon said that the meeting is open to the public and said that "the public should show intense interest because CD is for the protection of the public."

He said that representatives from all civic and service clubs will be expected to attend along with all persons who assisted CD during World War II.

Yank Defense Chiefs Still Rank Atom Bomb More Potent Than Germ, Chemical Warfare

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Defense technical experts believe the atom is still king of mass destroyers today despite millions of dollars being poured out to investigate germ, chemical and radiological warfare.

They disagree with Rear Adm. Ellis Zacharias, retired former intelligence officer, who said last week the A-bomb is in "fourth place"—that germ, chemical and anti-atomic weapons offer more potent means for wiping out humanity.

Top information, medical and technical officers of the Army, Navy and Airforce report that instead they regard poison gas as the second destroyer, and rank germ and radiological weapons as untied and unproved.

The official sources agreed that so-called unconventional or biological weapons "should not be dismissed lightly, but in their present stage should not be considered a means of mass destruction comparable to atomic warfare."

Poison gas ranks as the second destroyer largely because of the "nerve gases" developed by the Germans during World War II and now available in quantity to all countries.

Col. John R. Wood, research and development expert for the Army Chemical Corps, said in his opinion the nerve gases are the only chemical weapon which it might be worthwhile for an enemy to attempt to use at long range against the U. S. population.

The gases gain their prestige as destroyers from the fact that mere traces of the vapor will cause severe physical discomfort, such as constriction of the eye pupils, labored breathing, rapid pulse and headache.

Heavier doses of the vapor, or contact with the chemical in the original liquid form in which it is released from shells, may bring convulsions and death.

Gas masks, however, will provide a large measure of protection, and the death rate can probably be cut in half if first aid workers are prepared to inject atropine, an antidote for the nerve gases.

Officials said that even the fearful potential of these most dangerous gases scarcely places them in a class with atomic bombs, which now can be used in quantity.

No means has been suggested for saving the lives of persons within a half mile of an atomic explosion, except for the impractical method of going underground en masse.

Germ warfare is an enormous threat in theory because trillions upon trillions of bacteria or viruses can be bred quickly, at small expense and with little equipment, for release over enemy populations.

The nourishment from a dozen eggs, for instance, will breed enough viruses to infect every human being in the world.

The difficulty is that there is no assurance that the germs, whatever their quantity, would cause a "militarily significant" number of deaths if released into the air or in particles that would remain on the earth's surface.

Army medical officers pointed out that a physician may often hold in his hand a test tube containing enough germs to kill everyone in the community, but this does not say he holds the power of life or death over the population.

Radiation materials offer a similar problem in mass distribution, but in this case the probable results can be calculated mathematically.

The calculations show, according to the Army, that it would be impossible to release enough high-voltage radioactive material over a city to kill any significant percentage of the population.

What is possible is a radioactive sand that would make an area uninhabitable—it would be extremely difficult to remove and would probably prove fatal to anyone remaining in the area as long as three months.

REDS' AGENDA BEING ASKED

Big 3 May Put Peace Issue Direct To Moscow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The issue of world peace may soon be put directly to the Soviet Union's Politburo in a note to be published by the Big Three Western Powers.

The note was drafted last week in Paris by working representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France. It is in reply to a Moscow proposal for a four-power conference on demilitarization and unification of Germany.

Secretary of State Acheson, when the Moscow peace-feeler was first issued, took the position that any four-power talks on Germany alone would be for pure propaganda purposes.

London and Paris, however, felt that a meeting should be held on all outstanding problems, rather than just on Germany.

The note drafted in Paris proposed that the Soviet Union establish an agenda of the matters to be discussed and the order in which they are to be taken up.

THIS PLACES into the Soviet lap the formula for any future

Big Four meeting. The method adopted is for the purpose of bringing into the discussion matters of substance.

At many meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers, the Russians have haggled over the program of discussion for weeks, until Western representatives have given up in exhaustion.

Now Moscow is in the position of having to discuss all important matters of difference with an understanding in advance of what they are.

It is conceded in diplomatic quarters that the Kremlin might argue over the agenda until Spring, claiming in its propaganda that the West is filibustering to avoid the meeting.

But the Big Three are believed to be in a position to counter this claim by charging that Moscow is standing on matters of procedure, rather than of substance.

Any future meeting presumably would be on the foreign ministers' level.

patrolling Formosan waters and blockading Korea.

Appropriations senators, who are considering the President's request for an extra $18 billion for defense, spearheaded the pressure for a national emergency declaration.

MORE THAN HALF the committee indicated to Defense Secretary Marshall when closed hearings on the military funds got underway Saturday, that they favor the declaration.

They said that the administration has failed to arouse the public to the seriousness of the situation and has taken a too complacent attitude.

The secret hearings will continue late today. The Joint Chief of Staff may be witnesses if their schedules permit it.

The hearings have developed into a quiet probe of war contracts. Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., submitted questions on this issue for the military to answer.

Bridges and other committee-men want to find out:

1. How many contractors have said they are unable to deliver war goods unless given more money. The committee has been told that quite a few contractors have said they are unable to meet their obligations because the purchasing power of the defense dollar has slipped as much and as fast as that of the civilian dollar.

This disclosure led committee-men to ask when the administration was going to use the price control powers it has. There was no immediate reply.

2. How many contracts are let on a negotiated and on a bid basis.

3. Is their truth to statements that low bidders are not always the successful ones and if so, why?

4. Do the armed services or prime contractors retain jurisdiction over sub-contractors.

Committeemen said that attention to war contracts now may avert sensational investigations later.

1 Dead, Four Hurt When Fire Sweeps Cleveland House

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11 — Mrs. Bessie Lee Wimberley, 45, was burned to death and four others, including a two-year-old boy, were injured in a fire which swept through a two family house on Cleveland's west side yesterday.

Firemen found Mrs. Wimberley dead in the charred bed on the second floor, where the blaze is believed to have started. The woman's husband, John, 51, leaped from a second story window and firemen rescued the other three from the flaming upstairs suite.

The Wimberleys' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucille Wimberley, 25, was reported in critical condition at Lutheran hospital with second and third degree burns over 70 per cent of her body.

Also at Lutheran hospital are her son, Wade, 2, and Mrs. Nettie Murray, 19, daughter of the Wimberleys. Both are reported in fair condition with first and second degree burns.

John Wimberley was taken to Fairview Park hospital where he is reported in good condition.

This Is Third Year For Huge Feed Supplies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11 — The Agriculture Department reports that farmers are drawing on a near-record supply of feed concentrates this year.

The total supply of all feed concentrates for 1950-51 now is estimated at 179 million tons. That is only two percent off the record supply of last year and it is the third successive year of huge feed supplies.

Government officials are cheered by the large supply in view of the expected demand on feed in the period immediately ahead. They want a big boost in meat production and they say that there should be enough feed to supply the increased meat output during the emergency.

Feed grain production this year is much larger than average and carry-over stocks are near record.

The corn supply is about six percent below last year's record, while supplies of oats, barley and sorghum grains all are somewhat larger than a year ago.

Another big supply of protein feeds is in prospect, the department says, mainly as a result of the outlook for record production of soy bean cake and meal.

Feeding of domestic wheat and rye is expected to continue somewhere near the 1949-50 level.

Flivver Plane Rescues Pilot

SEOUL, Dec. 11—A light American spotter plane from the Fifth Airforce landed in the Chinese-held Pyongyang area today and effected the rescue of the pilot of a downed American jet plane.

The little "grasshopper" landed under an umbrella of tightly-circling, low-flying jet Shooting Stars and picked up the jet pilot, whose plane was shot down by enemy anti-aircraft.

The tight formation of jets kept Communist troops away from the rescue area while the small plane went in and brought out the downed pilot. Names of the fliers involved were not available.

Kin Of Localities Faces Ouster From America

Edward V. Sittler, former Michigan college teacher, his wife and four of their six children have been ordered to be deported by the immigration service.

Sittler, who has relatives in Circleville, and is a native of Ohio, worked for the Nazis during World War II in the Nazi radio system.

The man was given a visitor's permit following the war and remained in this country longer than his permit allowed.

The deportation order affects Sittler, his wife and four children. His other two children are unaffected, since they were born in the U. S.

Sittler testified in treason trials in Washington D. C. following the war and obtained teaching jobs in Northwestern university and the Michigan College of Mining and technology.

Ex-GI Backs Blood Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Former Sergeant Charles A. MacGillivray, 33, who won the Medal of Honor when he lost blood and an arm for the United States in World War II, has donated more blood to his country.

MacGillivray, a Bostonian, walked into Walter Reed hospital and said: "I read a story that the boys here at Walter Reed and in Korea need blood. I'd like to give some myself."

The Red Cross blood center at the big Army hospital accommodated him and took a pint of blood.

mauled divisions of U. S. Leathernecks and GIs closed ranks with other Tenth Corps units in a narrow beachhead in North-east Korea.

They had left 20,000 enemy dead behind after 13 days of bloody fighting out of a trap set by some 120,000 Chinese Reds in what an American general called the "frozen hell" of the Changjin reservoir area.

Far to the southwest, UN forces broke up a Communist enveloping maneuver around the inland flank of the Eighth Army's new defense line guarding the northern approaches to Seoul, the South Korean capital.

North of this relatively quiet western front, swarming U. S. Fifth Airforce fighters slammed at southbound reinforcements of China's million-man invasion army. The airmen were credited with killing more than 1,900 Chinese Reds in Northwest Korea Sunday.

The nightmarish struggle out of entrapment by the First Marine and Army Seventh Division troops in the northeast came to a victorious climax when the battle-weary Americans reached the Hamhung-Hungnam perimeter.

There the begrimed, unshaven Leathernecks and GIs and some 100 British marine commandoes who accompanied them joined units of the Army's Third Division for defense of a 15-mile beachhead against approaching Chinese hordes.

Bearing down from the north, the teeming Chinese, in their padded winter uniforms, were reported Monday already to have occupied Kotori from which the heroic Americans had launched the last phase of their breakout drive.

Kotori, just below the Changjin hydroelectric reservoir's south tip, lies 28 air miles and 35 road miles north-west of the coastal industrial and rail hub of Hamhung.

Hen Pheasant Shooter Pays High Price

A 38-year-old Columbus man spotted a flock of pheasants along Route 23 north of Circleville Sunday and stopped long enough to blow at least $185 from the barrel of his shotgun.

Thomas Grant told Game Protector Clarence Francis that he was travelling toward his home in Columbus when he spotted the pheasants and stopped to take a shot at them.

"He got one," Francis said, "It was a hen."

Grant was haled later before the court of Magistrate Oscar Root, where he was fined $100 and costs for killing a pheasant on Sunday.

In addition, the man was fined $50 and costs for hunting without a license, $25 and costs for hunting on Sunday and $10 and costs for hunting without permission, making $185 and costs in all.

Meanwhile, J. L. DePew of Chillicothe Route 7 was fined $10 and costs in the court for hunting the lands of Luther Ruff without permission.

Turkey Thief Is Fined $100, Given Jail Term

Millard C. Jordan, 29, of Columbus, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in Pickaway County jail Monday in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for stealing two turkeys.

The Columbus man entered a plea of guilty Saturday to an accusation of having stolen two turkeys from the Hoover Turkey Farm.

The magistrate, however, declined to make sentence during the hearing and continued the case until Monday.

Jordan gave himself up to Franklin County authorities Saturday after local lawmen had discovered his auto parked on Route 104 with two turkeys in its boot.

The Columbus man later told the local authorities that he had walked from a back field on the farm to the Goosepond Pike and from there to Route 104, where he hitched a ride into Columbus.

There, he said, he changed his clothes and travelled to Kentucky through Portsmouth. On the way back, he reported his auto stolen in Portsmouth and again in Chillicothe before reporting to the Franklin County sheriff's office.

4 Persons Hurt In Smashup Here Saturday

Four persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car crash at about 10 a. m. Saturday on Route 222 three miles east of Circleville.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards said the mishap occurred when an auto driven by James Lovett, 35, of Stoutsville, failed to stop for a stop sign.

Richards said the Lovett auto crashed into the right front end of an auto driven east on Route 22 by Paul Anderson, 26, of Columbus.

The Anderson auto skidded around in the highway from the impact, crashing backwards into a farm fence to the right. The Lovett car skidded half around in the highway.

Mrs. Mae Hartley, 60, of near Stoutsville, suffered shoulder injuries in the crash, while Anderson, his wife, June, 23, and 18-month-old son, Paul Jr., suffered cuts and bruises.

Lovett was fined $10 and costs later in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for failure to stop at a stop sign.

against a formal attack against Acheson are these:

1. FOREIGN policies opposed by the GOP are the product of others as well as Acheson; to win removal of Acheson would not be a Republican "cure."

2. President Truman has the clear constitutional power to pick his cabinet officers and determine foreign policy. The Senate minority, advocates of constitutional processes, might be open to ridicule on this count.

County Retail Business Shows Minor Decline

Pickaway County business took a drop during the latter part of November from the same period in 1949, according to a report of sales tax stamps sold here.

State Treasurer Don Ebricht reported Pickaway County receipts for the week ending Nov. 25 as $4,561.16, compared to $5,062.41 for the same week last year, a drop of $501.25.

Tax stamp sales for the fiscal year up to the last of November, however, were still ahead of the 1949 total, $121,199.47 to $101,076.67.

Throughout the state tax stamp sales for all but three classes of retail industry were reported lower during the week ending Nov. 25 than in the same week last year.

Automotive, building and chain store sales were up, according to the treasurer's report. Automotive sales climbed from last year's $478,268.47 to $527,185.69, building from 220,243.08 to $261,661.79 and chain stores from $461,095.47 to $507,556.88.

Food, clothing, general, furniture and miscellaneous store sales were down.

Memorial Hall Repairs Start

T. M. Barnes has begun work to repair Circleville Memorial Hall, damaged by the blizzard here two weeks ago.

Ed Ebert, secretary to the association which governs the hall, said that scaffolding has begun and that loose brick from the break has been removed from the inside.

Ebert added that Building Inspector D. J. Jacoby has inspected the building since the break and has reported nothing out of the way other than the damaged area.

BIG CHRISTMAS POSSIBLE

Whole Bag Of New Tricks Revealed By Toy Sellers

This Christmas, toy manufacturers have uncorked a whole bagful of new tricks that are appealing to ogle-eyed children.

A tour of almost any store reveals an army of toys designed to tug at Junior's heart and Daddy's purse strings.

On display was what store officials term the greatest variety of toys in history. What they didn't point out was that the prices also are the greatest although the price range is wide.

Junior can be supplied with everything from a yo-yo (costing a dime) to an intricate "jungle gymnasium" (for a mere $150).

In between there is an array of ultra-scientific and modernistic toys from a water-shooting jet airplane to an atomic energy laboratory, the latter costing $49.50 and guaranteed to make Junior either an Einstein or a Frankenstein.

THE ATOMIC energy lab, made to provide 150 experiments, comes complete with toy Geiger counter, electric ferret, cloud chamber, glass tubing and the rest of it.

Less expensive than the miniature Oak Ridge is an automatic repeating rifle which fires six plastic balls rapidly at a cardboard target or Daddy's newspaper, whichever is handier.

Then there is what looks like a real, honest-to-goodness television set but actually is a box with a projector flashing stand and movie film onto the screen from within.

This little gadget, guaranteed

to make the kiddies happy, costs a trifling $18.

Other tagged products include imported animal rockers—the pony with real horse hide selling for $78, and elephant and bear rockers also capable of leaving the wallet bare.

Imported dolls are crying for owners at $57 apiece while doll carriages are obtainable at $20 per. And there are dolls in the dime store, too.

A western bike replete with saddle bags and holster is less expensive for $30 while a two-wheeler sporting Donald Duck's snoot up front can be rolled away for $52.

If the little girl wants to cook up something she need just flick the switch on her genuine midge electric stove. When she's entertaining, the toy people have put together a realistic $45 baby grand piano with all the keys provided but one—that being how to pay for it.

OR, IF SHE WOULD rather sit the next one out, she may lounge in a luxurious $20 sofa . . . or an ordinary $2 chair.

There are many items which won't dent Daddy's budget too noticeably, however, including:

A mechanically operated airfield which puts down a plane; musical instruments; walking dolls and animals; electric train equipment, and the usual erector sets.

Youngsters are literally pouring into toy departments for even a peek at the heralded wares. One big city department store for instance reports an average of some 1,000 wide-eyed

Wedding Rules Too Complicated For British Earl

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 11—The honeymooning Earl of Essex and his lady were motoring toward Portland today secure in the knowledge that this time they were married.

The 66-year-old British nobleman's "honeymoon" with Miss Mildred Carlson of New York was delayed Saturday night by the landlady of the auto court near Tacoma where they had stopped for the night.

She informed them that she had heard a newscast that they were not married.

It appeared that the couple had gone off on their "honeymoon" in the belief a waiver granted them by a judge at Seattle a few hours earlier meant they were married.

The document merely waived the state's three-day-wait before a wedding license could be issued.

The auto court landlady rounded up two neighbors to serve as witnesses, and the embarrassed couple drove 16 miles to Spanaway, Wash.

kiddies prancing daily past their hearts' desires envisioning what may or may not be under their Christmas trees.

Most stores report a sharp gain in toy-buying this year and predict an even greater volume of sales this Yuletide than during the 1949 season.

There they were married shortly before midnight by Justice of the Peace Delbert Bresemann.

The earl, Algernon George Capell, member of a family prominent in English history for almost 300 years, said granting of the waiver had led him to believe the wedding ceremony had been performed.

THEY CRY FOR TRUTH!

Overseas Listeners Find U.S. Is 'Warm-Hearted'

Editor's Note: This third article of a series—"The Cry for Truth"—discussing the contents of some of the thousands of letters received by the Voice of America from listeners the world over tells what United States writers think of the United States and its people.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—Voice of America writers who have come to regard the United States as a warm-hearted friend and a blessed dream land.

Typical of such sentiment is the following excerpt of a letter from Sicily to the Voice of America headquarters in New York—one of some 158,000 "fan mail" letters received in the last nine months:

"Your cultural organization brings men closer together in the name of your great country which I consider the spiritual fatherland of the world. You are on the road toward love among men, love which, with time, will eliminate wars."

A listener in Spain writes in the same vein: "By hearing about your great nation, which is a dream country full of greatness and freedom, we feel ever closer to the United States and the Latin American countries, sons of this beloved mother country, Spain."

"That's why the Voice of America does very well to acquaint us with the customs and life of the great nation which the better we know, the more we appreciate and love."

From Italy: "With your broadcasts, our minds and hearts are enriched by so many beautiful ideas. They make us better people. I warmly share your triumphs and your marvelous work in all fields and I am saddened by anything painful that may befall you."

"May God always protect you so that we may live with a bit of sunshine in our hearts, thinking of the sons of America who, after all the misfortune, pain and misery suffered, still love us. I repeat that almost all Italians reciprocate this feeling."

From a Yugoslav, now living in England: "The Serbo-Croat announcers are true messengers of good faith, hope and confidence in regard to their interpretation of American democracy."

From Oran, Algeria: "Your social outlook also attracts me, and I praise the individual freedom and freedom of speech which radiates from America."

A Spanish listener comments on the reading of a letter from an American soldier killed in Korea:

"I found it so terse, so appealing, so admirable in its contents that frankly I remained deeply moved after its reading, and it seems to me I can still hear the speaker rolling forth word after word, as if I were in a dream."

"MY IMAGINATION took flight to your admirable nation and I thought of the happy, serious home—broken because a father, a typical American—all heart and goodness—had died for the good of his country, his family and, greatest of all, in defense of all Christian homes throughout the world."

A German listener comments on the objectivity of the broadcasts about Korea and says:

"Whenever you have setbacks (there) my heart beats with fear; but all progress is rewarded by an extra cigarette. I hope that I will continue to have to light up this extra smoke until your brave boys have finally defeated the Communists."

"However, my heart bleeds when I think of the dead and wounded who give their life and blood—in the final analysis—for us Germans."

A worker in Italy writes: "I am a constant listener to your broadcasts. Because of them, I am in a position to contradict my fellow workers. I try to make them understand that the only road to follow is that of individual liberty, that is, liberty in the American way."

From a little girl in Yugoslavia: "Our father died in World War II in a concentration camp. I am 12 years old and attend the gymnasium. My little sister—hopes that Santa Claus will be able to send her some warm clothes. Extend my regards to all children my age."

FROM ITALY: "It is very pleasant to spend one hour with a friend. It is even more pleasant because this friend is a whole people, and a people as nice and honest as the American people."

From Berlin: "Your broadcasts are the only means by which the residents of the Russian zone can learn the truth about America. I too turned into this road (of learning the truth) and your broadcasts have raised my interest in America so much that I would like to get to know your country beyond the limitations of your broadcasts."

Arms Output Speedup Asked

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Chairman Vinson, (D) Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee today requested the Defense Department to speed the production of military weapons.

He urged Undersecretary of Defense Lovett to name an expeditor to supervise the rearmament program.

Simultaneously, the Georgian requested all major aviation concerns to furnish his committee with information on what they are doing to hasten the production of war materiel.

They were asked to advise the group whether there are any bottlenecks which are hampering them in filling defense orders.

Office Liquor Parties Hit

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Office liquor parties during the Christmas season have been singled out for severe criticism from two Chicago pulpits.

Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson of Fourth Presbyterian church called office Yule parties where liquor is served "a shocking situation" and called upon the congregation to "correct an abuse which has developed at Christmas time."

at Bolling said the twin-engine plane crashed on the grounds of the Naval research laboratory, 1200 feet south of the main runway at the air base.

Witnesses said that the bomber's engines sputtered and its wings wobbled just before the crash. The plane landed on its belly and then flipped over on to a small building at the naval laboratory.

Steel Supply Troubles Up, Experts Claim

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11—Steel Magazine reported today that steelmaking operations have recovered completely from storm-induced shutdowns but that procurement difficulties are mounting.

The metalworking periodical noted that the national ingot rate has jumped 19.5 points to 101 percent of capacity. However, some plants in the Ohio river watershed are now threatened by floodwaters.

All signs point to worsening supply conditions, Steel said, with acute shortages threatened in the first half of 1951 unless curbs on civilian goods ease demand pressure.

Steel continued: "Adjustments in steel are being accompanied by advances on pig iron, scrap and other raw materials. The trade anticipates early application of new, stiffer government regulations affecting wages and production in general."

"Some observers expect a swing to mandatory supply ratings similar to the controlled materials plan of the last war within the next 30 to 60 days."

Barbers Expect Rush, Naturally

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Chicago barbers looked forward today for a rush of business this week before next Monday's deadline when haircut prices rise to $1.35 on week days and $1.50 on Saturdays and shaves jump to 85 cents.

Children's haircuts also are increased to $1.

Frank Aliotta, secretary of the Master Barbers Association of Chicago, said two-thirds of the membership favored the boost. He blamed rising shop maintenance costs for the boost.

School Burned By Vandals

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — The kids at Franklin elementary school will have an enforced holiday today because someone tried to burn down the school.

The school was ordered closed because the fire, which authorities said was definitely of incendiary origin, caused $7,000 damage. School authorities said the damage may run as high as $100,000.

Firemen found obscene words scribbled on a blotter on the principals desk, and authorities were ordered to attempt to trace the handwriting to pupils.

Firemen said yesterday's blaze was set in four separate places by someone who forced locks on a classroom window.

Youth Killed In Car Crash

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — One youth was killed and another seriously injured early today when their car—identified by police as a stolen vehicle—crashed into an abutment in Columbus.

Killed was Ray Mathias, 19, of Columbus. Grover Bainter, 17, Columbus, was seriously injured.

Goble Cannon, 1105 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo., says in this day and age it doesn't matter how old you are—it is how young you feel. Mr. Cannon says he's seen a lot of these young, high powered fellows just burn themselves out, while folks that know how to live never seemed to get old. Mr. Cannon says that since he has been taking HADACOL he feels as spry as a 16-year-old. Mr. Cannon found he was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron.

Mr. Cannon was very proud to give us this statement: "My job as crossing watchman for the Wabash Railroad keeps me in one place and I don't have a chance to get much exercise. I seem to get gas on my stomach and then I lose my appetite. Many times I have had nervous spells and been unable to sleep at night. Then one day I heard how other folks were being helped by HADACOL. Now the gas on my stomach has vanished, my appetite is first rate and I get a good night's sleep and those nervous spells? I very seldom have them any more at all. I think HADACOL is mighty fine — just look what it has done for me."

The most important thing about HADACOL is that you get Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

Remember HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation — promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition and vague aches and pains when they are due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in your system. HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only One Genuine HADACOL Don't go through life suffering those vague aches and pains if caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. (C) 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation

Retail Sales For October Show Decline

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—Ohio retail sales dropped for the second straight month in October, in contradiction to a normal seasonal increase, but still held a sizeable gain over sales for the same period last year.

The current issue of the Ohio Retail Analyst said October sales fell off one percent and September sales were down two percent in the face of a usual six percent boost for the season.

The publication of the Ohio State University Bureau of Business Research attributed the decrease to sizable reduction in sales of women's apparel, shoes, hardware and plumbing.

The bureau's seasonally adjusted index of Ohio retail trade fell to 265 percent of the 1935-1939 average, from the all-time high of 290 reached last August.

The big city retail sales increases ranged from six percent in Toledo to 15 percent in Dayton and Youngstown.

TIMOROUS ALLIES

AMERICANS awoken to the fact that the billions in gifts donated to this country's "allies" during the last five years—and before—is money down a rat hole.
Prior to World War II the Western Europeans were hot after this country as an ally, to save their bacon. Failing to get the United States involved, England tried appeasement at Munich. While frantic efforts were under way—in Europe and in Washington—to get this country into the war, England stiffened its backbone but France, communist-infected, succumbed. Europe was saved when the Japs—following an ultimatum from Roosevelt—struck at Pearl Harbor.
Now this country has been dragged down to the point where it is compelled to fear Russia, must try to cajole England's communistic government and timorous France not to run out on its benefactor. England and France want to appease Red China, if not Russia. London recognized the Red China government months ago.
Eisenhower rushed down to the Pentagon a month ago to assume command of the West European defense forces. But no forces appeared to command, and he returned to New York.
Stalin's strategy, like that of Hitler before him, is to divide and conquer. Current developments suggest that the western world is divisible.

CARIBBEAN FERMMENT

WORLD ferment is most forcefully dramatized in Europe and Asia, but there are few spots on this earth where it isn't present among the teeming masses or their masters. Not much is heard about the Latin countries to the south, but they are in lesser or greater degree of ferment.
The attempt on the life of President Truman pinpointed the unrest in Puerto Rico, where economic conditions are the best in its history. In other islands of the Caribbean conditions are worse. Populations are large and growing larger. Resources are inadequate or undeveloped.
In the British colonies of the Caribbean area 60 to 90 per cent of all children are born out of wedlock. A program has been started to attract more money to the islands via tourists. But these areas are mainly dependent upon their crops, principally sugar cane, which are sold as raw products, with the islands dependent upon market prices fixed elsewhere. Whites are greatly outnumbered, and communist propaganda has made headway among the natives.
The Caribbean is one of America's most important lifelines. Iron ore, oil and other sinews of war come out of South America. It is imperative that increased attention be given to the Caribbean to prevent the outbreak of bloody revolutions at an awkward time.

New Type Exhaust Won't
Cloud Decks of Carriers
Special to Central Press
WASHINGTON—The Navy has succeeded in taking the smoke out of its rocket assisted take-offs and rocket motors used to boost aircraft power in flight. It has developed a new RATO unit which uses a smokeless powder and is said to have a barely discernible exhaust trail.
This is in sharp contrast to the present units which give off huge trails of smoke and block out carrier decks and airports, thus creating hazards to aviation in the vicinity.
The new units will have the same power and weigh about the same as the old units, which provide about 1,000 pounds of thrust for 14 seconds.
However, in addition to the smokeless wake, the new unit is also superior in that it is not affected by temperature extremes and rough handling.
LONG ANSWERS—Harold E. Stassen, not a particular critic of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, is reported by friends to have said that President Truman couldn't possibly have gotten a complete fill-in from the head of the United Nations forces in his recent Wake Island meeting.
The meeting lasted only one hour. Thereafter the two leaders met with their staffs for another hour.
According to Stassen, General MacArthur feels so deeply about the

It is believable that other peoples do not understand us, as we so little understand others. Yet, even without a grasp of national characteristics, nations have managed to work together on the general assumption that there is a policy, a purpose, some basic theory of operations.

For nearly a century, the United States pursued a course which was definable. For the American continents, we were guided by the Monroe Doctrine; in the Far East, since Daniel Webster was secretary of state, we insisted upon the territorial and administrative integrity of such countries as China. The Open Door Policy of John Hay was part of that concept of our role.

We insisted upon freedom of the seas, and the right of Americans to enjoy any privileges which might be granted to other nationals. We insisted upon the inviolability of the American's right to trade.
All this has gone by the board and in its place have come opportunistic transactions and special relationships with different countries. The rules applied to one may not be applied to another.

For the Monroe Doctrine we substituted the Good Neighbor Policy, which cannot be defined. For the Open Door Policy we substituted recognition of special privileges. Our citizens are battered about until the American passport is worthless in much of the world.

All this is called realism. But along with it have come betrayals. Let us list a few:

1. Finland: This country we regarded as a special friend. We noted that Finland was the only country that paid its debts. In 1939, Russia invaded Finland and the whole American people showed deep concern. Huge funds were raised to aid Finland. Then we forgot about Finland. Russia had taken part of the country and we no longer worried.

2. Yugoslavia: Professor Mikhailovitch organized the people of Yugoslavia to resist Germany. He did a wonderful job, but he was for a Democratic Yugoslavia. The United States and Great Britain supported Mikhailovitch and Yugoslavia until Russia erected Tito as their puppet. Then we threw over Mikhailovitch, took on Tito, let him shoot down Americans, imprison Mikhailovitch and eventually kill him.

3. France: In the dark days of war, General deGaulle was a hero. He organized Frenchmen to fight on our side. But he was fighting for France. Roosevelt did not like deGaulle. Stalin hated deGaulle. So we threw him over.
4. Poland: World War II was fought over the invasion of Poland by Hitler and Stalin in alliance. The United States had had a policy about the sanctity of treaties. Wilson made that a cause for our joining the Allies in World War I. In the early years of the war, the United States made quite a fuss over Poland, but at Teheran and later at Yalta, we agreed to Russia's superior position in that country. At Potsdam, we finished the job of giving Poland to Russia.

USE OF opium may be on the decline, as a world survey indicates, but people can still dream, can't they?

Governor of Alaska tells prospective settlers they will need both money and a job. A few suits of long underwear also will come in handy.

Average American is warned he'll catch at least three colds this Winter. It would be nice if he could pursue them without ever catching them.

Far Eastern situation that he cannot give anyone a complete expression of his analysis in anything like 60 minutes.
Two Washington reporters who lunched with the hero of the Pacific back up Stassen. After dessert, General MacArthur brushed the silver and dishes aside and gave them a complete exposition of his views.
They hardly had time to get a question in. But the general expounded until well into the afternoon—and had hardly fully expressed himself.
QUICK SESSION?—The prediction facetiously made by Senator Robert A. Taft (R), Ohio, that the present short session of Congress would do nothing more than meet and "adjourn," is not beyond serious consideration in administration quarters.
It all depends on what President Truman asks for in the way of additional defense appropriations, and how soon the request comes before Congress.
There seems to be no prospect of enactment immediately of excess profits tax legislation, military aid for Europe or any other major item.
Capping it all, the two top administration leaders in the Senate, Majority Leader Scott Lucas, of Illinois, and Majority Whip Francis J. Myers, of Pennsylvania, both are now lame ducks.
They will have little stomach for futile maneuvering on administration bills, their friends say.
ETERNAL TRIANGLE—All the evidence indicates that American babies are becoming better dressed, at least as far as three-cornered pants are concerned.
A well-known research organization is authority for the fact that diaper manufacturers increased their output by more than 16 per cent between 1948 and 1949.
Since the crop of babies increased only five per cent in the corresponding period, the obvious assumption is that—to coin a phrase (?)—more changes are being made

LOOK OUT for LIZA
By FAITH BALDWIN

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR
"BUT I really phoned to warn you we're arriving on schedule this evening," Liza told Michael.
"I have suddenly been called to Kansas City."
"All flights canceled. Michael, I feel wretched about Abby. I've hurt her."
"Then why did you start playing games?"
"That's my affair, and has nothing to do with you. Will you do me a favor?"
"And get my throat cut? Do me a favor, sweetheart, take a running jump in your private river, preferably from a terrace."
"I mean this, and I promise I won't keep the whinny up long."
"Belladonna, arsenic, Paris green, strychnine, chloral hydrate—that's what your whineys are made of, Lucretia."
"Listen, I do promise. Things are working out, or will soon. But I can't have Abby upset again. Call Robert Fleming, ask him to come tonight, if he has a date, ask him. No matter who it is, ask him. King Kong, or even Hiram Mason."
"Hiram Mason? She doesn't know him!"
"She met him at our semi-annual party, remember?"
He said seriously, "See here, Liza, Patty's a nice girl."
"I know it and Hiram will find it out. And everyone you know of, even if we have to hang them from the rusty draperies and sit on the unclean floor. It will make it easier for Abby."
"I don't owe her anything, nothing good, that is."
"She'd like you if you'd let her. You deliberately annoy Abby—and in addition, she's terrified on my account."
"I'm the one who should be terrified."
"Michael, please, just this once?"
"All right, I know when I'm licked. We'll throw a block party. It will be uproarious. Stop at the package store, dear, and send over a case of pop. Make mine sarsaparilla."
"Michael, if the book's accepted, you have justification for celebration."
"And if it isn't, we can have a wake."
"Good-bye," said Liza in a far-away voice. "I'm about to be overcome with the heat or the humidity."
She left the stationer's and invaded a store from which she sent assorted refreshments to Michael's address.
"May I use your telephone, please?" she asked the clerk.
It was not a public telephone. She was ushered into a small cheese-redolent office and sat down at a battered desk, looked in a telephone directory, and called Patty.
"Did I wake you, Patty?"
"No. Is that you, Liza?" Patty groaned. She said, "I have a business appointment. In a fur coat, natch. Oh, brother."
"Patty, Michael's going to ask you to a party tonight. Please come. Are you planning to go out?"

The proposition to fly the UN flag over public buildings should be held up until the UN comes out from under the table.
The only way you could fly it now would be upside down. That's for distress and the UN sure is distressing.
And has caused the distress of most people who looked to it for guidance and got guyed.
And as the flag pictures the world globe, the appropriate position is upside down until further notice. That's how the world looks.
Even the old League of Nations held the line longer than this super-duper debating society which has managed to put a hammerlock on itself even before it got a permanent building.

Premature Infant Needs Care

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.
THE premature infant enters the world with two strikes against him. Weak, tiny and under-developed, his chance for life depends on the care he is given. At a minimum, he needs experienced nursing, breast milk, protection against infection, and constant warmth.
Even with all this, his hold on life is precarious and will continue so until he gains a certain amount of strength and weight. For this reason, many attempts have been made to speed the growth of such babies. Several methods for accomplishing this have been tried. One is the use of methyl testosterone, a gland extract, and it has been reported that its use may be of value in decreasing the expected death rate in these babies and in shortening the period of hospitalization. Another method is the giving of the fluid part of the blood, or plasma, by mouth as a supplemental feeding.
Lost Less Weight
It was noted that infants given the plasma lost less weight, vomited less, and suffered less from irritation of the stomach. In an effort to determine whether or not the combination of the two methods might not accomplish even more, a study was made of 34 premature infants. One group of babies was given the usual care, together with an injection of liver extract into a muscle every other day. The second group was given the methyl testosterone by mouth, and was also given the blood plasma by mouth. The plasma

Decorations Scheduled

Lighted red candles, miniature reindeer and pine cones were intermingled in the pine streamers placed the length of the table at the annual Christmas dinner held by Pickaway Garden Club Friday.

Places were marked by favors of miniature Santa Claus and snow men with red ribbon scarves. Husbands of members were guests at the affair held in First Methodist church.

The evening program included a gift exchange and group singing of Christmas carols.

Mrs. James Moffitt led the singing. Mrs. Lorie Reichelderfer served as accompanist. Columbus First English Lutheran church was the setting of the marriage on Dec. 2 of Jean Creighton, daughter of Mrs. Omar C. Creighton of Atlanta and the late Mr. Creighton, and Richard E. Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ehman of Columbus. Dr. E. Clyde Xander performed the double ring ceremony before a candle-lit altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her brother, Ray Creighton of London, who gave her in marriage.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her maid of honor, Miss Mary Coontz, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Harry Zimmerman.

Best man for Mr. Booth was Joseph Cohen. Seating the guests were William Beaver, Robert Ogle and Harry Carson.

Hostesses at the reception in the church parlors following the ceremony were Miss Ann Grube, Mrs. Robert Bentley, Mrs. William C. Arter, and Miss Delores Murphy.

A gift was presented to Miss Emma Mader at which time Mrs. James Trimmer read a poem in her honor.

During the refreshment hour a birthday cake centered the lace-covered table. The cake, mounted on a musical stand, had been the gift of Mrs. John Mader.

White tapers in crystal holders were lighted. Mrs. N. E. Coffland served as assisting hostess.

Light Industry Wanted By 'Winter Playground'

MIAMI, Dec. 11—Miami's customary bid for play-minded vacationists is being augmented to day by an ambitious campaign for industrial development.

The Tropical City, billed since the 1920s as the nation's winter playground, is awakening to the fact that all play and little work makes Jack in insufficient quantities to support a population headed rapidly toward the half-million mark.

The idea for developing industry in the land of palm trees and sandy beaches is not entirely new, but its transformation into actuality has only been effected in the last few months.

Specifically, the city wants to attract light industry that will add to the area's economic stability without blighting the gay vacationist atmosphere with unpleasant smoke and other hindrances that heavy industry might bring.

Miami has made inroads into the field of light industry in the last two years by developing a fashion business that is growing steadily bigger.

THE CITY sponsored a big manufacturers' exposition a few months ago that brought nearly $2 million in unsolicited orders to the exhibitors and resulted in plans for setting up new or branch plants in Miami by several northern and Midwest interests.

The industrial development drive got another shot in the arm from Industrialist Charles F. Kettering, who recently predicted that Miami can eventually become the industrial hub of the Western Hemisphere when solar energy is fully adapted to industrial purposes.

Kettering, a pioneer in the field of solar energy research, spends much of his time in Miami and he believes the sun is the potential source of untold energy that can be adapted to keep the wheels of world industry turning.

Despite the new accent on industrial development, City Publicity Director Hoite Agey made it clear today that Miami has no intention of lessening its efforts to boost the tourist business. He said:

"We are aware of the fact that much of our present economy and many of our established businesses—such as hotels and restaurants—must look to tourists for a large part of their support.

"But new industry and more year-round payrolls are necessary to support the rapid growth we are experiencing."

Wedding Ring To Fight Polio

FOSTORIA, Dec. 11—The wedding ring, which was to adorn the finger of a Fostoria bride, will be sold to aid the fight against the disease that took her life.

The wedding band was to be used in the marriage ceremony of Miss Bessie Medley, Fostoria's first polio victim of the year, and Ray Spencer of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Following funeral services for his fiancée, Spencer handed the wedding band to Jacob P. Reis, director of the Fostoria branch of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Spencer asked that the ring be sold and the money turned over to the foundation to aid in fighting the disease.

The plant from which castor oil is obtained is a native of tropical Africa.

Scio Pottery Yule Party To Cost $30,000

SCIO, Dec. 11 — The Scio Pottery Co., world's largest producer of white potteryware, is playing Santa Claus again this year — and in the usual big way.

Scio President Lew Reese is taking his 1025 employees and their families to Pittsburgh Dec. 23 for a $30,000 Christmas party.

A special train has been chartered for the trip. In Pittsburgh Scio will throw a party with all the trimmings—dinner, floor show and dance.

But the climax is to be the announcement of a pay raise and the distribution of about $70,000 in accumulated vacation pay.

Scio employees now rank among the best paid in the pottery industry. In 1946 they received $705,000 at their Christmas party. The following year fire leveled the pottery plant just before the annual party.

The loss was not covered by insurance and Reese lost almost $1 million. But the entire town showed its gratitude for past favors by aiding in reconstruction and Scio was back in production in two months.

Newest Crash Helmet Bared

DAYTON, Dec. 11 — The Air Force said today that it finally had licked the problem of a crash helmet that will stay on a pilot's head in a high-speed, jet plane bailout.

The solution, reported the Air Materiel Command here, was a spherical plexiglass visor which is riveted at either side of the helmet and may be pushed up out of the way when not in use.

The visor locks in place when pulled down over the eyes and makes it possible for a pilot to keep his oxygen equipment with him in a high-altitude jump.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreich
INS Foreign Director

Heavy new pressure upon the United States for active, vigorous measures to carry out President Truman's plan for improvement of backward areas throughout the world is anticipated if the United Nations succeeds in localizing the Korean conflict.

Most major international undertakings have been shunted aside because of the grave threat to world peace inherent in the Far Eastern conflict.

These include the Schuman Plan for integration of French and German iron and coal resources, the Council of Europe, elimination of European trade and tariff barriers and even the long-delayed Austrian peace treaty, although deputies still are working on that problem.

And Mr. Truman's Point Four has been sidetracked with the rest. The issues of social betterment, education, increased health services and agricultural development in fellow nations can hardly be considered properly on a battlefield.

But it seems entirely certain that if and when the Korean war clouds are cleared away, even temporarily, voices will be raised in many quarters of the globe to say that except for all-out war the only weapon against Communism is aid to the depressed classes as proof of Democratic values.

IT IS PERFECTLY true that spokesmen in foreign countries often have an extraordinary facility for proposing ways and means of spending American dollars.

Yet it is equally a fact that the Point Four program, when first enunciated, aroused tremendous enthusiasm—not only among the ordinary people who saw a chance of their lot being improved but among governments which were finding that for economic as well as moral reasons, the old colonial system had to come to an end.

There are observers who will say that the situations which prevail in Korea, Indo-China, Malaya, Burma and the Dutch East Indies (now Indonesia), never could have arisen if proper steps had been taken toward social improvement.

They point to the undeniable fact that Communism has stepped into one vacuum after another.

Its propagandists have harped upon the alleged advantages to be found in Marxism. Natives have been pictured as exploited and downtrodden, and the Russians, by holding out promises of what they choose to call "peoples' republics" have conjured up rosy visions of prosperity and peace.

The hollowness of these pretensions is clearly evident to anyone in a position to judge. But when a promise given to a starving man is accompanied by a sack of rice or a bushel of potatoes, it is something else again.

Communism to date has been able to work out a seemingly foolproof system of combining propaganda with largesse.

THE ENORMOUS areas of the world now under Red control make it possible to "rob Peter to pay Paul." Stocks can be taken from one occupied country to meet the needs of one that is merely on the target list. And while this rotative system of internal economy obviously cannot go on forever, its chances for more or less indefinite success are obvious.

In its initial concept, the Truman proposal recognized that poverty and distrust were the most fertile fields for Red expansion. The painstaking efforts made by Moscow to prove to each subjugated country is far better off than it was before have reached a stage almost ludicrous to the Western mind.

Yet the absence of any signs of open anti-Communist revolt in satellite countries is proof that the Russians have not been lacking in success.

There is an old and somewhat callous saying: "Feed them or fight them."

Basically, Point Four was designed to make human life better and more profitable, thus eliminating poverty, surely one of the major causes of war throughout the ages. If the slightest opportunity presents itself, the issue will be raised again with increasing clamor in the future.

TV Director Goes On Trial For Shooting

CARMEL, N. Y., Dec. 11—Herbert Gehr, 39-year-old television director, who shot and killed his wife when she surprised him in a cabin love nest with another woman, goes on trial today on a charge of second degree murder.

The other woman, Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, who fled the cabin nude after the shooting, is expected to be called as a state witness.

However, the comely Mrs. Matthews has proclaimed her love for Gehr and declared that she will stick by him during the trial.

Mrs. Matthews, who was engaged in a lengthy legal battle with her wealthy husband, Mark, at the time of the shooting, has since obtained a divorce.

Mrs. Andrea Gehr, 30, was leading private detectives in a raid on the mountain cabin for divorce evidence when a bullet cut her down. Gehr, who was later captured in his car at a roadblock set up by state police, said he fired through the door with a rifle in the belief that prowlers or his wife's "boy friend" were trying to break in.

5. China: For a century, this country and China were friends. We spent a quarter of a billion dollars on education, religion and health in China, most of it through American missionary agencies. By the Washington treaties of 1921, we guaranteed the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

There can be no doubt that the United States went to war with Japan over China. Cordell Hull's ultimatum of Nov. 26, 1941, dealt mostly with China. Yet at Teheran and Yalta, China, like Poland, was thrown to Russia.

6. Containment policy: Turkey, Greece and Iran have been guaranteed their integrity should Russia attack them. These three countries are now frightened lest they meet the fate of Poland, China and Yugoslavia.

Unless this country means to make good all its commitments, it is not sound policy to promise more than 150 million persons can undertake and support. In the United Nations, our country has agreed to provide a force capable of safeguarding the Republic of Korea, but we have not done that. It is even probable that we never could do more than we did before Soviet China officially entered that war. We should have known who was the effective enemy and what we could accomplish against him. That should not have been left to chance.

There is a lesson to learn from all that—the good, old method of having some basic policies and sticking to them is safer than trying this or that as it comes along.

POLICE ESCORT NEEDED

Near-Riot Brings End To Wrestling Program

Wrestling fans who missed Saturday night's mat show in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum also missed a near-riot.

It came as an encoir to the final match of the evening as galleryites tangled with the defeated wrestler who had to secure a police escort to his dressing room.

The final match was between the Mighty Titan and Panchito Romero.

The event, booked for a 60-minute time limit and two-out-of-three falls, saw the Mighty Titan wrestle not a single orthodox hold.

But his bag of brutal tricks was bulging.

Romero was the butt to continual eye-gouges, hair-pulls and bare knuckle blows. But the barrel-chested, goated Romero won the match.

ONE FALL CAME when the bully Titan was disqualified. The second was awarded on a body slam which followed a return-the-compliment demonstration of the Titan's own tactics.

But the telltale third fall did not end the joust.

Violently objecting to Referee Solomon Bey's decision, Titan locked horns with Romero just as the slim but loud-voiced gallery started toward exits.

And the Mr. Milquetoast Solomon Bey also took a hand in the unscheduled extra round. So did numerous jeering and taunting galleryites who poked jibes at the Titan.

Approaching the aisleway between the two tiers of permanent bleachers on his way to the dressing rooms below, the Titan lashed out at a couple of jeering mat fans, even grabbed one by the leg.

It was there that the crowd surged toward the Titan and Deputy Sheriff Mack Wise provided police protection.

Had there been no other matches on the card, the gallery probably would have been satisfied with the program offered by Promoter Si Boyse.

ACTUALLY, there were two other matches, but they had nary a candle to the final joust and the melee which followed.

Fes Quits; Columbus 'All Excited'

Paul Brown Tops List Of Guesses

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — The surprise resignation of Ohio State University Football Coach Wesley Fesler has Columbus in a tailspin of speculation today with Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns coach and former Buck grid mentor, as the number one candidate for the job.

Second in the line of guessing is Harry Strobel, the Bucks' head freshman football coach for the last three years and a former Barborton high school mentor.

Fesler vacated the post Saturday night. Athletic Director Dick Larkins, attending the weekend Western Conference sessions in Chicago, said the whole thing came as a "distinct and sudden surprise."

Ohio State President Howard L. Bevis issued the resignation announcement Saturday night and Fesler had a 400-word statement ready.

Fesler said he was ready to take a business offer from John Galbreath, part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Fesler blamed ill health and the pressure of winning for his action. He threatened to quit Ohio State before the last Rose Bowl game, but remained with the university when his salary was hiked from $12,500 to $15,000. His new post is reported to be worth $25,000 a year.

OHIO STATE Publicity Director Wilbur Snypp said in Chicago that the principal reason for Fesler's resignation was the nervous tension which the 40-year-old coach attributed to football.

Fesler came to Ohio State in 1947 and won two, lost six and tied one that season. His team won six of nine games in 1948 and went on to win seven, lose one and tie two to share the Big Ten championship in 1949. The squad won the Rose Bowl game that year. This year, his squad won six and lost six.

Brown loomed immediately as a possible successor. The 41-year-old pro football coach quit the Buckeyes early in 1944 to enter the Navy after three impressive coaching years and, upon his discharge, took over the grid leadership of the professional Browns.

He led them to four straight All-America Conference championships and yesterday they took a 45-21 victory over the Washington Redskins to make them eligible for the National Pro League playoff.

Brown, who was boomed for the OSU leadership in 1947 when Fesler succeeded Paul Bixler, said he "is still under contract to the owners of the Cleveland team" and declined further comment.

The Ohio State board of trustees is expected to be very active in the naming of a new coach by the athletic board. However, officials indicated that it "may be some time" before a successor is named.

STROBEL DECLINED comment except to say that "anything pro or con will have to come from Dick Larkins."

Glenn "Tiger" Ellison, Middletown high school football coach and president of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, said he will send letters to members "encouraging the coaches to make their views known to the Ohio State athletic department."

Ellison said his first choice will be Brown and the second, Charles (Chuck) Mather, Massillon mentor who was named Ohio high school football coach of the year in 1948 and 1950.

Hanover Shoe Master Elected Head Of USTA

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — The spotlight of the harness racing world is on Columbus today where the United States Trotting Association executives are meeting with a number of other side-wheelers groups.

The 29 directors of the USTA also promoted Don R. Millard of Columbus from vice-president to executive vice-president.

Today's USTA sessions will feature the action of the board on recommendations of the rules and finance committee which met yesterday.

Sheppard, owner of one of the nation's largest breeding farms, was president of the National Association of Shoe Manufacturers four years. He is a director of the Hambletonian Society and a member of the Trotting Horse Club of America. Sheppard's stables include Billy Direct, 1:55, the world's fastest harness horse.

During the session of the Lexington Tots Association, the group completed its 1951 racing schedule and announced that the purse of the famed Red Mile will be greater than ever before.

Members of five prominent Grand Circuit fairs staged their annual meeting in conjunction with the USTA sessions. Known as the Big Five, the groups meeting are representatives of Delaware, O., Springfield, Ill., Du Quoin, Ill., Sedalia, Mo., and Indianapolis.

Seasoned Pros Grab Laurels

MIAMI, Dec. 11 — A pair of seasoned professionals today pocketed first prize money from the $10,000 Miami International Four-Ball Golf Tournament after a one-up victory in the 36-hole final round.

Pete Cooper of Ponte Vedra, Fla., and Claude Harmon of Mamaroneck, N. Y., downed Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., and Jim Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., Sunday. They grabbed the lead on the 15th hole and held it through the 36th.

Boston Great Stars In Tilt

BILOXI, Miss., Dec. 11 — Harry Agganis, All-America from Boston university, paced the Camp Le Jeune Leathernecks to victory over Keesler Air Base, 32 to 7, yesterday in the first annual Electronics Football Game.

The ex-Boston star heaved four touchdown passes and carried the ball across for a fifth. George Allen turned in the only score for the airmen.

A NEW ring cleat football shoe, developed by MacGregor Goldsmith, Inc., will be tried next season. The developers say that the new shoe will greatly reduce injuries to ankles, knees and hips. The ring cleat is made of aluminum alloy. The ring and the arc cleats give equal or more traction than that afforded by the seven conical cleats now in common use on shoes, says company. (International)

Big Ten Chiefs Want No Change In Bowl Pact

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Western Conference faculty representatives returned to their respective schools today amid indications the Rose Bowl football pact with the West Coast Conference will be renewed—but only if there are no changes.

Kenneth Little, Wisconsin delegate to the Big Ten's faculty representatives committee, said any proposal to allow the same team to play in the post-season classic in consecutive years or with only one year between appearances will meet with opposition.

The present contract stipulates that a Western Conference champion can only meet the West Coast title-holders once every three years. The Big Ten has been under pressure for some time to arrange for its champion in the bowl game each season.

An informal vote on a straight renewal of the pact indicated it would be approved with a safe margin although an actual decision was postponed until a meeting can be arranged with the West Coast Conference after the New Year's Day game.

Players Named For Annual Tilt

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — The Ohio High School Football Coaches Association has named 25 players and head coaches for each squad of the annual all-senior north-south high school football classic, tentatively scheduled Aug. 11 in Middle-town.

The directors from 16 districts of the association yesterday picked Chuck Thackara, coach of Hamilton's once-beaten Big Blue, to lead the Southern "rebels," while Junie Farrell of Barborton's once-beaten Magics was selected to pilot the northern eleven.

No player from the South Central Ohio League was elected to the honor squad.

Upsetter Quint From Missouri To Meet Bucks

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — Fresh from a 70-55 victory over Marquette, the Ohio State basketball team engages upset-minded Missouri here tonight.

While Coach Floyd Stahl's "on again" quintet defeated the tall but inexperienced Marqueters, Missouri made headlines with a stunning 54-37 turnaround over City College of New York. The setback came in the titlists own back yard and broke a 12-game winning skin carried over from last season.

Thus Missouri served notice it was the team to beat and the Buckeyes are first in line for the opportunity. Coach Stalcup's team lost its opener to Washington university of St. Louis, 45-42 while Ohio State yielded its initial battle to Kansas State. The Buckeyes came back to take Butler and Marquette, however, and have indicated they are primed for the not-so-tall Missourians.

Tonight's visitors gave Ohio a scare last year, the Bucks eking out a 47-46 triumph. Most of that team is back to tantalize the Scarlet with its "possession of the ball" tactics which wrecked CCNY's dream of conquest. The maneuver is simply holding the ball until a favorable shot presents itself.

Bearded Davids Score Win In Sunday Contest

House of David cagers clowned themselves into a low-scoring 30-25 victory over Wile Motors of Columbus Sunday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Wiles sped to a handy 7-2 first period lead in the exhibition tilt, maintaining a 13-12 margin at the half.

The shooting antics of Roth for the House of David, however, gave the bearded pros the lead in the third stanza and eventually the win.

Dominating both play and floor jabber, Roth bucketed 11 points in the game to lead the winning team, while Neil Johnson, towering Wile center, paced the losers with eight points.

CIRCLEVILLE BASICS basketeters whipped into a photo-frenzy 47-45 victory over invading Columbus Ben Brews during the preliminary engagement.

The Basics team was paced by Jack Hennis, who accounted for 18 points during the fracas. J. Thrush was high for the losers with 10 points.

Only about 150 fans turned out for the afternoon of basketball, the low gate attributed by observers to failure of sponsors to promote the affair.

Bob Murphy Collects KO

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Irish Bob Murphy, the light heavyweight from San Diego, remained an unknown quantity today despite his second straight eastern knockout.

Murphy kayoed Jimmy Beau of New Canaan, Conn., in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round Friday in Madison Square Garden. It was his 11th straight KO and his 49th in 55 pro fights.

However, Beau—a natural middleweight—weighed 165½ to Murphy's 170 and was at a distinct disadvantage in height and reach.

'Ambassador' Betty Riddle To Report Here Wednesday

High School To Be Scene For Address

Chagrin Falls Lad Also On Program

Pickaway County will receive its first formal report from its "ambassador" to Denmark Wednesday evening.

Miss Betty Jean Riddle of near Orient, who spent the summer in Denmark to speak in Circleville high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

She will be accompanied by Richard Taylor of Orient Falls, the other Ohio 4-H Club member who spent the summer abroad. He was sent to Greece and returned to America by way of Yugoslavia.

Miss Riddle and Taylor were the two Ohio farm youths selected to represent the state in the 1950 International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Miss Riddle is a farm girl with an active interest in agricultural welfare.

HER HOME IS on a farm near Orient, where she was an active 4-H Club member and won the state 4-H health contest for girls in 1947.

She is a junior in the college of agriculture at Ohio State university, and is majoring in rural sociology. During the Summer of 1949, she was employed as a 4-H club agent in Brown County.

Miss Riddle was selected last Spring by a student-faculty committee at Ohio State to participate in the IFYE program. This committee considered her outstanding achievements in school, college and community activities as well as her interest in foreign affairs, in choosing her.

Miss Riddle left the United States in early June, spent the summer living on farms in Denmark and returned to this country in November. For several months, she will travel about the state relating her experiences to youth and adult groups.

Pickaway County got an early preview of her experiences through a series of articles written during the Summer especially for The Circleville Herald.

This trip was made possible through voluntary contributions of groups and individuals to the International Farm Youth Exchange fund. These funds also made possible trips to America for approximately twice as many European farm youths. There were 50 American delegates in the 1950 program from 26 states.

No government funds were expended in furthering the IFYE program, and the Agricultural Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture and the land grant colleges and universities in the states concerned provided the administrative sponsorship and leadership for the program.

OVERALL PURPOSE of the project is to further international understanding by providing opportunities for American farm youth to see and experience the life and culture of rural people in foreign countries, and for the foreign youth to learn similarly about America.

The IFYE program is to be continued in 1951, and groups and individuals interested in contributing their support may send their donations to the Agricultural Extension Service, Ohio State University, Columbus 10, Ohio.

Taylor is a farm boy with an active interest in agricultural welfare.

His home is in Geauga County near Chagrin Falls, where he was an active 4-H club member for eight years. Now a senior in the college of agriculture at Ohio State, he is majoring in dairy husbandry. He is also active in campus organizations, and last year was president of the University 4-H Club. A veteran of World War II, he served 2½ years in the U. S. Airforce with duty overseas.

Taylor left the United States in early June, spent the Summer living on farms and farm schools in Greece and returned to this country last month.

Poor Fellow Needs Divorce

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Ernest Hammermeister of Chicago asked for a divorce today because, he said, two years can seem a lifetime when a man is married to a woman who threatens his life.

Hammermeister claimed that his wife, Patricia, 35, had:

1. Threatened to shoot him.
2. Menaced him with a steel letter opener.
3. Told him she had poisoned his food.
4. Sent him to the hospital after beating him with her shoe.

The Hammermeisters were married May 12, 1948.

Bricker Wants Democrats In On Oust-Acheson Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Senate Republicans were asked today to give Democrats a chance to join in the drive to unseat Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Sen. Bricker, (R) Ohio, said he is against making the Acheson-ouster drive a Republican Party matter. He contended that Democrats have as much at stake as Republicans because the "security" of the country is involved.

But administration Democrats in the Senate were understood preparing a foreign policy counter-offensive against Republicans as a result of the Acheson issue.

Rep. Scott, (R) Pa., former GOP national committee chairman, already has introduced an oust-Acheson resolution in the House.

The Senate GOP Policy Committee decided to summon all 43 Republican senators to a conference this week to take a party stand on a resolution demanding that President Truman fire Acheson.

The explosion in the line occurred about a mile and a half north of Pemberville in Wood County. It was not discovered until nearly four hours later.

Other sources of gas were tapped by the company however, to allay fears of a temporary emergency.

Former Localite Is Murder Victim In California

A preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday in Sacramento, Calif., for Earl D. Egbert, 34, accused of slashing the throat of his wife, Margaret Lucille, 38.

Egbert, who called police to tell them he had killed his wife at the home of his mother "because she was involved in a narcotics ring," was granted a continuance in Sacramento municipal court to permit him to hire an attorney.

Funeral services for Mrs. Egbert were to have been held Monday afternoon with burial in Forest cemetery, Circleville.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hegle, now of Columbus, formerly lived in Circleville. Mrs. Egbert is a graduate of Circleville high school, class of 1929.

The slaying occurred in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Egbert and was witnessed by the mother and Egbert's sister, Mrs. Maureen Holley. They told police Egbert had placed his hands around the victim's neck in what side on the Senate floor that will "blame where it belongs."

They apparently refer to reverses in Korea.

If the oust-Acheson resolution fails to carry in the GOP conference, Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., said he and a few colleagues plan to bring the matter to the floor for a showdown. He said he would offer a motion of censure.

Bricker said the Bridges approach is better. Bricker declared:

"This isn't a partisan matter. The nation is imperilled by the stupidity of the State Department and Acheson either has been secretary of state or a leading figure in formulating policy which has led to the present debacle."

It is far better to have a resolution of censure because then the Democrats would have a chance to be counted. There is a voluntary uprising against Acheson on the part of the American people."

Reconstituted North Korean Communists made the first penetration south of the 38th Parallel at Kaesong (1). A 75-mile front (2) has been established by the U. ## Angry GOP Cautioned

Sniping At Acheson May Be Boomerang

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Senators are cautioning angry GOP members today against making careless attacks on Secretary of State Acheson which might boomerang to hurt the GOP.

Already there is a sharp division in Republican ranks on the wording of the anti-Acheson resolution now being drafted for consideration at a conference of all Republican senators, probably tomorrow.

But more sober judgment, offered primarily by Sen. Milliken, (R) Colo., conference chairman, is that the target should be the State Department rather than any single, appointed head.

A four-member drafting committee meets today to work out final language of the resolution. It includes Milliken and Sens. Ives, (R) N. Y., the original author; Floor Leader Wherry, (R) Neb., and Smith, (R) N. J. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the titular party leader, already has spoken out against foreign policy attacks at this time of national emergency.

He said that representatives from all civic and service clubs will be expected to attend along with all persons who assisted CD during World War II.

Yank Defense Chiefs Still Rank Atom Bomb More Potent Than Germ, Chemical Warfare

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Defense technical experts believe the atom is still king of mass destroyers today despite millions of dollars being poured out to investigate germ, chemical and radiological warfare.

They disagree with Rear Adm. Ellis Zacharias, retired former intelligence officer, who said last week the A-bomb is in "fourth place" that germ, chemical and anti-radiological weapons offer more potent means for wiping out humanity.

Top information, medical and technical officers of the Army, Navy and Airforce report that instead they regard poison gas as the second destroyer, and rank germ and radiological weapons as untried and unproved.

Huge Aerial Onslaught Aids Escape Of UN Units

SEOUL, Dec. 12—(Tuesday)—A massive new U. S. aerial onslaught that killed some 3,000 Chinese Reds was unleashed Monday in support of United Nations troops withdrawn to a beachhead in Northeast Korea and a new defense line in the west.

Hundreds of planes rained fiery death and destruction on enemy borders as Gen. Douglas MacArthur flew to Korea and declared his forces to be still "intact" and "relatively secure" in their new positions.

The United Nations military chief visited both Korean fronts. He conferred with his field commanders while 20,000 U. S. Marines and soldiers completed a 13-day fighting retreat on the Hamhung-Hungnam beachhead on the northeast coast.

In the west, the U. S. Eighth Army's American and other UN troops dug in along new but undisclosed positions above Seoul and broke up an enemy threat to their inland flank. UN forces severed a lifeline down the peninsula's middle to North Korean Reds imperiling the east wing of the new line.

Senate Judiciary Committee OKs Commie Probe

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The Senate Judiciary Committee recommended today that the Senate authorize an immediate all-out investigation of Communist and subversive activities in the United States.

The committee unanimously reported out a resolution which would permit such an inquiry and provide $100,000 to finance it.

The rules committee must approve the funds and the Senate must pass the authorizing resolution before the investigation can begin.

Chairman McCarran, (D) Nev., said he hoped to secure rules committee action Wednesday. He disclosed that he is ready to launch the investigation before the end of the month.

The probe will deal with all phases of Communism, espionage and sabotage, with particular attention to enforcement of the new internal security law.

OVER FROZEN northeast Korea, waves of carrier-borne U. S. Navy and Marine planes hammered throughout Monday at Red troops bearing down on the narrow beachhead curving around Hungnam.

In the latter harbor, a UN naval armada stood ready either to support a beachhead defense or evacuate the battle-weary Leathernecks and GIs.

Returning carrier airmen said Monday night that ground control parties informed them by radio that the 20,000 Marines and soldiers in the beachhead possessed "very high morale" despite the ghastly ordeal of their 35-mile breakout from a Chinese trap.

North of Hungnam and the nearby rail-industrial hub of Hamhung, the fliers attacked at least ten "large concentrations" of units belonging to Red China's million-man invasion army.

Chiang Demands His Armies Get OK For Invasion Of Chinese Mainland

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek demanded today that his Nationalist troops be permitted to invade the Chinese Communist mainland and called for a "fighting union of Asiatic countries," including a rearmaged Japan.

Chiang also urged U. S. bombing of Communist bases in Manchuria and China with "conventional weapons," but said he did not favor use of the atomic bomb.

The generalissimo asserted that "timely American leadership" of a "fighting union" of non-Communist nations in the Far East would crush the Chinese Communists and spare the world a third world war.

The Nationalist leader estimated that he has more than 1,500,000 guerrillas on the Chinese mainland who would join in an attempt to free China from Red oppression.

He declared that his guerrillas outnumber the Communist troops in South China. He said the number of Red troops in the area is approximately one million.

At the same time, Owen Lattimore, Far East expert cleared by a Senate committee of charges by Sen. McCarthy, (R) Wis., that Lattimore was a "top Soviet agent," urged a new American policy to "retrieve a situation that has been precipitated by a military disaster" in Korea.

REDS' AGENDA BEING ASKED

Big 3 May Put Peace Issue Direct To Moscow

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The issue of world peace may soon be put directly to the Soviet Union's Politburo in a note to be published by the Big Three Western Powers.

The note was drafted last week in Paris by working representatives of the United States, Great Britain and France. It is in reply to a Moscow proposal for a four-power conference on demilitarization and unification of Germany.

Secretary of State Acheson, when the Moscow peace-feeler was first issued, took the position that any four-power talks on Germany alone would be for pure propaganda purposes.

London and Paris, however, felt that a meeting should be held on all outstanding problems, rather than just on Germany.

The note drafted in Paris proposed that the Soviet Union establish an agenda of the matters to be discussed and the order in which they are to be taken up.

***

THIS PLACES into the Soviet lap the formula for any future

Big Four meeting. The method adopted is for the purpose of bringing into the discussion matters of substance.

At many meetings of the Big Four foreign ministers, the Russians have haggled over the program of discussion for weeks, until Western representatives have given up in exhaustion.

Now Moscow is in the position of having to discuss all important matters of difference with an understanding in advance of what they are.

It is conceded in diplomatic quarters that the Kremlin might argue over the agenda until Spring, claiming in its propaganda that the West is filibustering to avoid the meeting.

But the Big Three are believed to be in a position to counter this claim by charging that Moscow is standing on matters of procedure, rather than of substance.

Any future meeting presumably would be on the foreign ministers' level.

Chiang, Lattimore and Hornbeck gave their views on the Korean crisis in interviews with the magazine U. S. News and World Report on the general theme "What Shall We Do About China?"

The Chinese Nationalist leader, by radio from Formosa, insisted:

1. The U. S. "should furnish the leadership to all Asiatic peoples and governments now fighting for the preservation of their freedom so that they may be forged into one fighting unit."

2. "Japan should be permitted to join the union of Far Eastern countries and be enabled to defend herself and participate in the common defense of freedom in Asia."

3. The Chinese Nationalists should be authorized to unleash military operations against the Communist-held mainland.

Chiang, asked for his opinion on the possible effect of United Nations withdrawal from Korea, said:

"The future of Asia depends basically on the firmness of American Far Eastern policy rather than on any temporary or local fortunes of war."

"However, should the Communists succeed in consolidating their control of Asia, the vast human potential of a billion Asians may outweigh military advantages elsewhere."

Lattimore said the Communists came to power in China "because people became completely disillusioned" with Chiang's government.

He declared that the U. S. "made a mistake" last Summer in "slapping down" the Indian suggestion that diplomatic discussions be opened up to end the Korean struggle.

Lattimore inferentially urged that the Chinese Communists be admitted to UN membership. He said the UN attempt to end the Korean conflict by peaceful means would be "more pertinent" if the Reds were admitted to membership.

Hornbeck bitterly opposed U. S. recognition of the Chinese Communist regime and UN membership for the Peiping Reds.

"They've not only revealed themselves to be aggressors but they've revealed themselves to have none of the qualifications ordinarily required of a government before you give it recognition as the lawful government."

Wage-Price Curbs Also Being Hinted

Special Truman Message Indicated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The White House indicated today that President Truman may invoke nationwide price-wage controls soon—possibly later this week—and at the same time proclaim a national emergency.

The White House said that there has been "some discussion" for the President to talk to the nation by radio to explain the reasons for these moves and to review the critical world situation.

President Truman called his top economic advisers to the White House today to discuss the impending move. He conferred earlier with his congressional leaders.

Presidential Press Secretary Early told newsmen that the same subject is up for discussion with both groups. Early said:

"The economic discussion is limited to the question of wage and price controls and the methods and procedures of applying such controls."

IN REPLY to newsmen's questions, Early said "there is a large school of thought that controls are inevitable." Early added in response to further questions that "there has been some discussion" for Mr. Truman to go on the air this week to discuss the administration moves to meet the world crisis.

Early emphasized that no decision has been reached as yet. He indicated that when price-wage controls are clamped on they will be sweeping in nature, and will cover the nation's entire economy.

When asked whether controls would extend only to defense materials, Early said:

"I should think the President would be just as much interested in the cost of food and other essentials of life as he would be in defense materials."

Early said that the President was discussing with the congressional "big four" the question of invoking a national emergency. To the afternoon meeting scheduled for 4 p. m., the President summoned these top advisers:

NATIONAL Security Resources Board Chairman Symington, Foreign Affairs Special Adviser Averell Harriman, Economic Counselors Leon Keyserling, John Clark and Roy Bough, Economist Stabilizer Alan Valentine, Economist General Counsel Francis Whitehair, Price Administrator Michael D'Salle, Wage Board Chief Cyrus Ching, and Economic Adviser Geoffrey Baker.

Meanwhile, a bloc of purse-string-holding senators demanded that the President declare the emergency immediately.

Sen. Knowland, (R) Calif., a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee, coupled his demand with a proposal the President issue new orders to the Seventh Fleet to blockade the China mainland.

Knowland said a blockade, however, should permit Nationalist Chinese forces on Formosa to launch an attack on China if they wish.

The Seventh Fleet has been (Continued on Page Two) patrolling Formosan waters and blocking Korea.

Appropriations senators, who are considering the President's request for an extra $18 billion for defense, spearheaded the pressure for a national emergency declaration.

MORE THAN HALF the committee-men indicated to Defense Secretary Marshall when closed hearings on the military funds got underway Saturday, that they favor the declaration.

They said that the administration has failed to arouse the public to the seriousness of the situation and has taken a too complacent attitude.

The secret hearings will continue late today. The Joint Chief of Staff may be witnesses if their schedules permit it.

The hearings have developed into a quiet probe of war contracts. Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., submitted questions on this issue for the military to answer.

Bridges and other committee-men want to find out:

1. How many contractors have said they are unable to deliver war goods unless given more money. The committee has been told that quite a few contractors have said they are unable to meet their obligations because the purchasing power of the defense dollar has slipped as much and as fast as that of the civilian dollar.

This disclosure led committee-men to ask when the administration was going to use the price control powers it has. There was no immediate reply.

2. How many contracts are let on a negotiated and on a bid basis.

3. Is their truth to statements that low bidders are not always the successful ones and if so, why?

4. Do the armed services or prime contractors retain jurisdiction over sub-contractors.

Committeemen said that attention to war contracts now may avert sensational investigations later.

1 Dead, Four Hurt When Fire Sweeps Cleveland House

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11—Mrs. Bessie Lee Wimberley, 45, was burned to death and four others, including a two-year-old boy, were injured in a fire which swept through a two family house on Cleveland's west side yesterday.

Firemen found Mrs. Wimberley dead in the charred bed on the second floor, where the blaze is believed to have started. The woman's husband, John, 51, leaped from a second story window and firemen rescued the other three from the flaming upstairs suite.

The Wimberleys' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lucille Wimberley, 25, was reported in critical condition at Lutheran hospital with second and third degree burns over 70 per cent of her body.

Also at Lutheran hospital are her son, Wade, 2, and Mrs. Nettie Murray, 19, daughter of the Wimberleys. Both are reported in fair condition with first and second degree burns.

John Wimberley was taken to Fairview Park hospital where he is reported in good condition.

This Is Third Year For Huge Feed Supplies

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—The Agriculture Department reports that farmers are drawing on a near-record supply of feed concentrates this year.

The total supply of all feed concentrates for 1950-51 now is estimated at 179 million tons. That is only two percent off the record supply of last year and it is the third successive year of huge feed supplies.

Government officials are cheered by the large supply in view of the expected demand on feed in the period immediately ahead. They want a big boost in meat production and they say that there should be enough feed to supply the increased meat output during the emergency.

Feed grain production this year is much larger than average and carry-over stocks are near record.

The corn supply is about six percent below last year's record, while supplies of oats, barley and sorghum grains all are somewhat larger than a year ago.

Another big supply of protein feeds is in prospect, the department says, mainly as a result of the outlook for record production of soy bean cake and meal.

Feeding of domestic wheat and rye is expected to continue somewhere near the 1949-50 level.

Flivver Plane Rescues Pilot

SEOUL, Dec. 11—A light American spotter plane from the Fifth Airforce landed in the Chinese-held Pyongyang area today and effected the rescue of the pilot of a downed American jet plane.

The little "grasshopper" landed under an umbrella of tightly-circling, low-flying jet Shooting Stars and picked up the jet pilot, whose plane was shot down by enemy anti-aircraft.

day at enemy hordes streaming down from the Pyongyang area for an expected big assault on the Eighth Army's new line.

By dusk Monday, the airmen were credited with having killed 3,000 or more Red soldiers with in two days. Numerous enemy vehicles, including two Russian-type tanks, and many other pieces of equipment were knocked out, while many rail and highway installations were smashed.

MacARTHUR declared he had found the UN combat forces "in excellent shape with high morale." His field commanders told him the Chinese had suffered casualties as high as 10 to one, compared to those of the Allied troops.

As the UN commander discussed future moves with his front-line chiefs, two severely

Kin Of Localities Faces Ouster From America

Edward V. Sittler, former Michigan college teacher, his wife and four of their six children have been ordered to be deported by the immigration service.

Sittler, who has relatives in Circleville, and is a native of Ohio, worked for the Nazis during World War II in the Nazi radio system.

The man was given a visitor's permit following the war and remained in this country longer than his permit allowed.

The deportation order affects Sittler, his wife and four children. His other two children are unaffected, since they were born in the U. S.

Sittler testified in treason trials in Washington D. C. following the war and obtained teaching jobs in Northwestern university and the Michigan College of Mining and technology.

Ex-GI Backs Blood Program

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Former Sergeant Charles A. MacGillivray, 33, who won the Medal of Honor when he lost blood and an arm for the United States in World War II, has donated more blood to his country.

MacGillivray, a Bostonian, walked into Walter Reed hospital and said:

"I read a story that the boys here at Walter Reed and in Korea need blood. I'd like to give some myself."

17 Injured In Rail Mishap

DALMATIA, Pa., Dec. 11—Seventeen persons were injured today when a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train hit a rock slide near Dalmatia, overturning the steam locomotive and derailling four cars.

Railroad spokesmen said 13 passengers suffered lacerations, bruise burns or contusions, but none was hurt seriously.

H. G. Tweed, the engineer, and E. R. Bailey, a fireman were burned, the railroad said. Two other crewmen also were hurt.

Natural Rubber Supply Slashed

mauled divisions of U. S. Leathernecks and GIs closed ranks with other Tenth Corps units in a narrow beachhead in North-east Korea.

They had left 20,000 enemy dead behind after 13 days of bloody fighting out of a trap set by some 120,000 Chinese Reds in what an American general called the "frozen hell" of the Changjin reservoir area.

Far to the southwest, UN forces broke up a Communist enveloping maneuver around the inland flank of the Eighth Army's new defense line guarding the northern approaches to Seoul, the South Korean capital.

North of this relatively quiet western front, swarming U. S. Fifth Airforce fighters slammed at southbound reinforcements of China's million-man invasion army. The airmen were credited with killing more than 1,900 Chinese Reds in Northwest Korea Sunday.

The nightmarish struggle out of entrapment by the First Marine and Army Seventh Division troops in the northeast came to a victorious climax when the battle-weary Americans reached the Hamhung-Hungnam perimeter.

There the begrimed, unshaven Leathernecks and GIs and some 100 British marine commandoes who accompanied them joined units of the Army's Third Division for defense of a 15-mile beachhead against approaching Chinese hordes.

Bearing down from the north, the teeming Chinese, in their padded Winter uniforms, were reported Monday already to have occupied Kotori from which the heroic Americans had launched the last phase of their breakout drive.

Kotori, just below the Changjin hydroelectric reservoir's south tip, lies 28 air miles and 35 road miles north-northwest of the coastal industrial and rail hub of Hamhung.

Hen Pheasant Shooter Pays High Price

A 38-year-old Columbus man spotted a flock of pheasants along Route 23 north of Circleville Sunday and stopped long enough to blow at least $185 from the barrel of his shotgun.

Thomas Grant told Game Protector Clarence Francis that he was traveling toward his home in Columbus when he spotted the pheasants and stopped to take a shot at them.

"He got one," Francis said, "It was a hen."

Grant was haled later before the court of Magistrate Oscar Root, where he was fined $100 and costs for killing a pheasant on Sunday.

In addition, the man was fined $50 and costs for hunting without a license, $25 and costs for hunting on Sunday and $10 and costs for hunting without permission, making $185 and costs in all.

Meanwhile, J. L. DePew of Chillicothe Route 7 was fined $10 and costs in the court for hunting the lands of Luther Ruff without permission.

Turkey Thief Is Fined $100, Given Jail Term

Millard C. Jordan, 29, of Columbus, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in Pickaway County jail Monday in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for stealing two turkeys.

The Columbus man entered a plea of guilty Saturday to an accusation of having stolen two turkeys from the Hoover Turkey Farm.

The magistrate, however, declined to make sentence during the hearing and continued the case until Monday.

Jordan gave himself up to Franklin County authorities Saturday after local lawmen had discovered his auto parked on Route 104 with two turkeys in its boot.

The Columbus man later told the local authorities that he had walked from a back field on the farm to the Goosepond Pike and from there to Route 104, where he hitched a ride into Columbus.

There, he said, he changed his clothes and travelled to Kentucky through Portsmouth. On the way back, he reported his auto stolen in Portsmouth and again in Chillicothe before reporting to the Franklin County sheriff's office.

4 Persons Hurt In Smashup Here Saturday

Four persons suffered minor injuries in a two-car crash at about 10 a. m. Saturday on Route 222 three miles east of Circleville.

Deputy Sheriff Walter Richards said the mishap occurred when an auto driven by James Lovett, 35, of Stoutsville, failed to stop for a stop sign.

Richards said the Lovett auto crashed into the right front end of an auto driven east on Route 22 by Paul Anderson, 26, of Columbus.

The Anderson auto skidded around in the highway from the impact, crashing backwards into a farm fence to the right. The Lovett car skidded half around in the highway.

Mrs. Mae Hartley, 60, of near Stoutsville, suffered shoulder injuries in the crash, while Anderson, his wife, June, 23, and 18-month-old son, Paul Jr., suffered cuts and bruises.

Lovett was fined $10 and costs later in the court of Magistrate Oscar Root for failure to stop at a stop sign.

against a formal attack against Acheson are these:

1. FOREIGN policies opposed by the GOP are the product of others as well as Acheson; to win removal of Acheson would not be a Republican "cure."

2. President Truman has the clear constitutional power to pick his cabinet officers and determine foreign policy. The Senate minority, advocates of constitutional processes, might be open to ridicule on this count.

3. The administration or its supporters could challenge the Republicans to propose either an affirmative foreign program or a secretary, and thus force them to share responsibility.

4. Finally, no matter what the resolution states, individual Republicans will continue to fire at Acheson. This is the "safer" procedure, and there is no reason for the party itself to "stick its chin out."

Weil Estate Petition Filed

A petition asking instruction on distribution of a lapsed portion of the Harry E. Weil estate has been filed in Pickaway County probate court.

The lapsed portion, amounting to approximately $3,000, was felt under the Weil will to Helen Joseph, who preceded him in death.

Executors of the estate, Kenneth M. Robbins and Samuel Joseph, filed the petition asking direction on distribution of the Helen Joseph share to other legatees. They are:

Alice Weil, Belle Weil, Samuel Joseph, Fannie Joseph, Merle J. David and Mildred Capps.

Eager Beavers Try New Project

Eager Beaver Club of Pickaway County Children's Home may soon be "eligible" to become a member of some chamber of commerce.

The group of 35 youngsters has yet to launch an unsuccessful business venture.

It has made enviable profits in food booths, at shoveling snow and even has its own livestock-raising project.

Latest effort will be the sale of Christmas trees. A total of 300 trees are to be hawked by the club this year.

County Retail Business Shows Minor Decline

Pickaway County business took a drop during the latter part of November from the same period in 1949, according to a report of sales tax stamps sold here.

State Treasurer Don Ebright reported Pickaway County receipts for the week ending Nov. 25 as $4,561.16, compared to $5,062.41 for the same week last year, a drop of $501.25.

Tax stamp sales for the fiscal year up to the last of November, however, were still ahead of the 1949 total, $121,199.47 to $101,076.67.

Throughout the state tax stamp sales for all but three classes of retail industry were reported lower during the week ending Nov. 25 than in the same week last year.

Automotive, building and chain store sales were up, according to the treasurer's report. Automotive sales climbed from last year's $478,268.47 to $527,185.69, building from 220,243.08 to $261,661.79 and chain stores from $481,095.47 to $507,556.88.

Food, clothing, general, furniture and miscellaneous store sales were down.

BIG CHRISTMAS POSSIBLE

Whole Bag Of New Tricks Revealed By Toy Sellers

This Christmas, toy manufacturers have uncorked a whole bagful of new tricks that are appealing to ogle-eyed children.

A tour of almost any store reveals an army of toys designed to tug at Junior's heart and Daddy's purse strings.

On display was what store officials term the greatest variety of toys in history. What they didn't point out was that the prices also are the greatest although the price range is wide.

Junior can be supplied with everything from a yo-yo (costing a dime) to an intricate "jungle gymnasium" (for a mere $150).

In between there is an array of ultra-scientific and modernistic toys from a water-shooting jet airplane to an atomic energy laboratory, the latter costing $49.50 and guaranteed to make Junior either an Einstein or a Frankenstein.

THE ATOMIC energy lab, made to provide 150 experiments, comes complete with toy Geiger counter, electric ferret, cloud chamber, glass tubing and the rest of it.

Less expensive than the miniature Oak Ridge is an automatic repeating rifle which fires six plastic balls rapidly at a cardboard target or Daddy's newspaper, whichever is handier.

Then there is what looks like a real, honest-to-goodness television set but actually is a box with a projector flashing standard movie film onto the screen from within.

to make the kiddies happy, costs a trifling $18.

Other tagged products include imported animal rockers—the pony with real horse hide selling for $78, and elephant and bear rockers also capable of leaving the wallet bare.

Imported dolls are crying for owners at $57 apiece while doll carriages are obtainable at $20 per. And there are dolls in the dime store, too.

A western bike replete with saddle bags and holster is less expensive for $30 while a two-wheeler sporting Donald Duck's snoot up front can be rolled away for $52.

If the little girl wants to cook up something she need just flick the switch on her genuine mid-get electric stove. When she's entertaining, the toy people have put together a realistic $45 baby grand piano with all the keys provided but one—that being how to pay for it.

OR, IF SHE WOULD rather sit the next one out, she may lounge in a luxurious $20 sofa . . . or an ordinary $2 chair.

There are many items which won't dent Daddy's budget too noticeably, however, including: A mechanically operated air-field which puts down a plane; musical instruments; walking dolls and animals; electric train equipment, and the usual erector sets.

Youngsters are literally pouring into toy departments for even a peek at the heralded wares. One big city department store for instance reports an average of some 1,000 wide-eyed

Wedding Rules Too Complicated For British Earl

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 11—The honeymooning Earl of Essex and his lady were motoring toward Portland today secure in the knowledge that this time they were married.

The 66-year-old British nobleman's "honeymoon" with Miss Mildred Carlson of New York was delayed Saturday night by the landlady of the auto court near Tacoma where they had stopped for the night.

She informed them that she had heard a newscast that they were not married.

It appeared that the couple had gone off their "honeymoon" in the belief a waiver granted them by a judge at Seattle a few hours earlier meant they were married.

The document merely waived the state's three-day wait before a wedding license could be issued.

The auto court landlady rounded up two neighbors to serve as witnesses, and the embarrassed couple drove 16 miles to Spanaway, Wash.

kiddies prancing daily past their hearts' desires envisioning what may or may not be under their Christmas trees.

Most stores report a sharp gain in toy-buying this year and predict an even greater volume of sales this Yuletide than during the 1949 season.

There they were married shortly before midnight by Justice of the Peace Delbert Bresemann.

The earl, Algernon George Capell, member of a family prominent in English history for almost 300 years, said granting of the waiver had led him to believe the wedding ceremony had been performed.

THEY CRY FOR TRUTH!

Overseas Listeners Find U.S. Is 'Warm-Hearted'

Editor's Note: This third article of a series—"The Cry for Truth"—disclosing the contents of some of the thousands of letters received by the Voice of America from listeners of the world over tells what listeners-writers think of the United States and its people.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—Voice of America listeners write that they have come to regard the United States as a warm-hearted friend and a blessed dream land.

Typical of such sentiment is the following excerpt of a letter from Sicily to the Voice of America headquarters in New York—one of some 158,000 "fan mail" letters received in the last nine months:

"Your cultural organization brings men closer together in the name of your great country which I consider the spiritual fatherland of the world. You are on the road toward love among men, love which, with time, will eliminate wars."

A listener in Spain writes in the same vein: "By hearing about your great nation, which for us is a dream country full of greatness and freedom, we feel ever closer to the United States and the Latin American countries, sons of this beloved mother country, Spain."

"That's why the Voice of America does very well to acquaint us with the customs and life of the great nation which the better we know, the more we appreciate and love."

From Italy: "With your broadcasts, our minds and hearts are enriched by so many beautiful ideas. They make us better people. I warmly share your triumphs and your marvelous work in all fields and I am saddened by anything painful that may befall you."

"May God always protect you so that we may live with a bit of sunshine in our hearts, thinking of the sons of America who, after all the misfortune, pain and misery suffered, still love us. I repeat that almost all Italians reciprocate this feeling."

From a Yugoslav, now living in England: "The Serbo-Croat announcers are true messengers of good faith, hope and confidence in regard to their interpretation of American democracy."

From Oran, Algeria: "Your social outlook also attracts me, and I praise the individual freedom and freedom of speech which radiates from America."

A Spanish listener comments on the reading of a letter from an American soldier killed in Korea:

"I found it so terse, so appealing, so admirable in its contents that frankly I remained deeply moved after its reading, and it seems to me I can still hear the speaker rolling forth word after word, as if I were in a dream."

"MY IMAGINATION took flight to your admirable nation and I thought of the happy, serious home—broken because a father, a typical American—all heart and goodness—had died for the good of his country, his family and, greatest of all, in defense of all Christian homes throughout the world."

A German listener comments on the objectivity of the broadcasts about Korea and says:

"Whenever you have setbacks (there) my heart beats with fear; but all progress is rewarded by an extra cigarette. I hope that I will continue to have to light up this extra smoke until your brave boys have finally defeated the Communists."

"However, my heart bleeds when I think of the dead and wounded who give their life and blood—in the final analysis—for us Germans."

A worker in Italy writes: "I am a constant listener to your broadcasts. Because of them, I am in a position to contradict my fellow workers. I try to make them understand that the only road to follow is that of individual liberty, that is, liberty in the American way."

From a little girl in Yugoslavia: "Our father died in World War II in a concentration camp. I am 12 years old and attend the gymnasium. My little sister—hopes that Santa Claus will be able to send her some warm clothes. Extend my regards to all children my age."

FROM ITALY: "It is very pleasant to spend one hour with a friend. It is even more pleasant because this friend is a whole people, and a people as nice and honest as the American people."

From Berlin: "Your broadcasts are the only means by which the residents of the Russian zone can learn the truth about America. I too turned into this road (of learning the truth) and your broadcasts have raised my interest in America so much that I would like to get to know your country beyond the limitations of your broadcasts."

Arms Output Speedup Asked

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Chairman Vinson, (D) Ga., of the House Armed Services Committee today requested the Defense Department to speed the production of military weapons.

He urged Undersecretary of Defense Lovett to name an expediter to supervise the rearmament program.

Simultaneously, the Georgian requested all major aviation concerns to furnish his committee with information on what they are doing to hasten the production of war materiel.

They were asked to advise the group whether there are any bottlenecks which are hampering them in filling defense orders.

Office Liquor Parties Hit

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Office liquor parties during the Christmas season have been singled out for severe criticism from two Chicago pulpits.

Dr. Harrison Ray Anderson of Fourth Presbyterian church called office Yule parties where liquor is served "a shocking situation" and called upon the congregation to "correct an abuse which has developed at Christmas time."

at Bolling said the twin-engine plane crashed on the grounds of the Naval research laboratory, 1200 feet south of the main runway at the air base.

Witnesses said that the bomber's engines sputtered and its wings wobbled just before the crash. The plane landed on its belly and then flipped over on to a small building at the naval laboratory.

Steel Supply Troubles Up, Experts Claim

CLEVELAND, Dec. 11—Steel Magazine reported today that steelmaking operations have recovered completely from storm-induced shutdowns but that procurement difficulties are mounting.

The metalworking periodical noted that the national ingot rate has jumped 19.5 points to 101 percent of capacity. However, some plants in the Ohio river watershed are now threatened by floodwaters.

All signs point to worsening supply conditions, Steel said, with acute shortages threatened in the first half of 1951 unless curbs on civilian goods ease demand pressure.

Steel continued: "Adjustments in steel are being accompanied by advances on pig iron, scrap and other raw materials. The trade anticipates early application of new, stiffer government regulations affecting wages and production in general."

"Some observers expect a swing to mandatory supply ratings similar to the controlled materials plan of the last war within the next 30 to 60 days."

Barbers Expect Rush, Naturally

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Chicago barbers looked forward today for a rush of business this week before next Monday's deadline when haircut prices rise to $1.35 on week days and $1.50 on Saturdays and shaves jump to 85 cents.

Children's haircuts also are increased to $1.

Frank Aliotta, secretary of the Master Barbers Association of Chicago, said two-thirds of the membership favored the boost. He blamed rising shop maintenance costs for the boost.

School Burned By Vandals

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — The kids at Franklin elementary school will have an enforced holiday today because someone tried to burn down the school.

The school was ordered closed because the fire, which authorities said was definitely of incendiary origin, caused $7,000 damage. School authorities said the damage may run as high as $100,000.

Firemen found obscene words scribbled on a blotter on the principals desk, and authorities were ordered to attempt to trace the handwriting to pupils.

Firemen said yesterday's blaze was set in four separate places by someone who forced locks on a classroom window.

Youth Killed In Car Crash

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — One youth was killed and another seriously injured early today when their car—identified by police as a stolen vehicle—crashed into an abutment in Columbus.

Killed was Ray Mathias, 19, of Columbus. Grover Bainter, 17, Columbus, was seriously injured.

The state highway patrol said the car hit an abutment at the north outskirts of Columbus and overturned. Bainter was thrown from the car. Police could not immediately determine the driver of the car.

Goble Cannon, 1105 Hebert St., St. Louis, Mo., says in this day and age it doesn't matter how old you are—it is how young you feel. Mr. Cannon says he's seen a lot of these young, high powered fellows just burn themselves out, while folks that know how to live never seemed to get old. Mr. Cannon says that since he has been taking HADACOL he feels as spry as a 16-year-old. Mr. Cannon found he was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron.

Mr. Cannon was very proud to give us this statement: "My job as crossing watchman for the Wabash Railroad keeps me in one place and I don't have a chance to get much exercise. I seem to get gas on my stomach and then I lose my appetite. Many times I have had nervous spells and been unable to sleep at night. Then one day I heard how other folks were being helped by HADACOL. Now the gas on my stomach has vanished, my appetite is first rate and I get a good night's sleep and those nervous spells? I very seldom have them any more at all. I think HADACOL is mighty fine — just look what it has done for me."

The most important thing about HADACOL is that you get Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in liquid form, which means that they are quickly absorbed and dispatched to the blood stream, ready to go right to work. HADACOL helps build up blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every part of your body.

Remember HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition and vague aches and pains when they are due to a lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B1, B2, Iron, and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Only One Genuine HADACOL. Don't go through life suffering those vague aches and pains if caused by such deficiencies when relief may be as close at hand as the nearest drugstore for sufferers from these deficiencies. Buy HADACOL today. Trial size bottle only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. Refuse substitutes. There's only one true and genuine HADACOL. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Retail Sales For October Show Decline

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—Ohio retail sales dropped for the second straight month in October, in contradiction to a normal seasonal increase, but still held a sizeable gain over sales for the same period last year.

The current issue of the Ohio Retail Analyst said October sales fell off one percent and September sales were down two percent in the face of a usual six percent boost for the season.

The publication of the Ohio State University Bureau of Business Research attributed the decrease to sizable reduction in sales of women's apparel, shoes, hardware and plumbing.

The bureau's seasonally adjusted index of Ohio retail trade fell to 265 percent of the 1935-1939 average, from the all-time high of 290 reached last August.

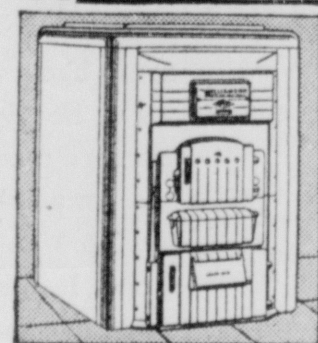

The big city retail sales increases ranged from six percent in Toledo to 15 percent in Dayton and Youngstown.

TIMOROUS ALLIES
AMERICANS awoken to the fact that the billions in gifts donated to this country's "allies" during the last five years—and before—is money down a rat hole.

Prior to World War II the Western Europeans were hot after this country as an ally, to save their bacon. Failing to get the United States involved, England tried effacement at Munich. While frantic efforts were under way—in Europe and in Washington—to get this country into the war, England stiffened its backbone but France, communist-infected, succumbed.
Europe was saved when the Japs—following an ultimatum from Roosevelt—struck at Pearl Harbor.

Now this country has been dragged down to the point where it is compelled to fear Russia, must try to cajole England's communist government and timorous France not to run out on its benefactor. England and France want to appease Red China, if not Russia. London recognized the Red China government months ago.

Eisenhower rushed down to the Pentagon a month ago to assume command of the West European defense forces. But no forces appeared to command, and he returned to New York.

Stalin's strategy, like that of Hitler before him, is to divide and conquer. Current developments suggest that the western world is divisible.

CARIBBEAN FERMENT
WORLD ferment is most forcefully dramatized in Europe and Asia, but there are few spots on this earth where it isn't present among the teeming masses or their masters. Not much is heard about the Latin countries to the south, but they are in lesser or greater degree of ferment.

The attempt on the life of President Truman pinpointed the unrest in Puerto Rico, where economic conditions are the best in its history. In other islands of the Caribbean conditions are worse. Populations are large and growing larger. Resources are inadequate or undeveloped.

In the British colonies of the Caribbean area 60 to 90 per cent of all children are born out of wedlock. A program has been started to attract more money to the islands via tourists. But these areas are mainly dependent upon their crops, principally sugar cane, which are sold as raw products, with the islands dependent upon market prices fixed elsewhere. Whites are greatly outnumbered, and communist propaganda has made headway among the natives.

The Caribbean is one of America's most important lifelines. Iron ore, oil and other sinews of war come out of South America.
It is imperative that increased attention be given to the Caribbean to prevent the outbreak of bloody revolutions at an awkward time.

Smokeless RATO Powder
Achieved by U. S. Navy

Cloud Decks of Carriers

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The Navy has succeeded in taking the smoke out of its rocket assisted take-offs and rocket motors used to boost aircraft power in flight. It has developed a new RATO unit which uses a smokeless powder and is said to have a barely discernible exhaust trail.

This is in sharp contrast to the present units which give off huge trails of smoke and block out carrier decks and airports, thus creating hazards to aviation in the vicinity.

The new units will have the same power and weigh about the same as the old units, which provide about 1,000 pounds of thrust for 14 seconds.

However, in addition to the smokeless wake, the new unit is also superior in that it is not affected by temperature extremes and rough handling.

● LONG ANSWERS—Harold E. Stassen, not a particular critic of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, is reported by friends to have said that President Truman couldn't possibly have gotten a complete fill-in from the head of the United Nations forces in his recent Wake Island meeting.

The meeting lasted only one hour. Thereafter the two leaders met with their staffs for another hour.

George E. Sokolsky's
These Days

It is believable that other peoples do not understand us, as we so little understand others. Yet, even without a grasp of national characteristics, nations have managed to work together on the general assumption that there is a policy, a purpose, some basic theory of operations.

For nearly a century, the United States pursued a course which was definable. For the American continents, we were guided by the Monroe Doctrine; in the Far East, since Daniel Webster was secretary of state, we insisted upon the territorial and administrative integrity of such countries as China. The Open Door Policy of John Hay was part of that concept of our role.

We insisted upon freedom of the seas, and the right of Americans to enjoy any privileges which might be granted to other nationals. We insisted upon the inviolability of the American's right to trade.

All this has gone by the board and in its place have come opportunistic transactions and special relationships with different countries. The rules applied to one may not be applied to another.

For the Monroe Doctrine we substituted the Good Neighbor Policy, which cannot be defined. For the Open Door Policy we substituted recognition of special privileges.
Our citizens are battered about until the American passport is worthless in much of the world.

All this is called realism. But along with it have come betrayals. Let us list a few:

1. Finland: This country we regarded as a special friend. We noted that Finland was the only country that paid its debts. In 1939, Russia invaded Finland and the whole American people showed deep concern.
Huge funds were raised to aid Finland.
Then we forgot about Finland. Russia had taken part of the country and we no longer worried.

2. Yugoslavia: Professor Mikhailovitch organized the people of Yugoslavia to resist Germany. He did a wonderful job, but he was for a Democratic Yugoslavia. The United States and Great Britain supported Mikhailovitch and Yugoslavia until Russia erected Tito as their puppet. Then we threw over Mikhailovitch, took on Tito, let him shoot down Americans, imprison Mikhailovitch and eventually kill him.

3. France: In the dark days of war, General deGaulle was a hero. He organized Frenchmen to fight on our side. But he was fighting for France. Roosevelt did not like deGaulle. Stalin hated deGaulle. So we threw him over.

4. Poland: World War II was fought over the invasion of Poland by Hitler and Stalin in alliance. The United States had had a policy about the sanctity of treaties. Wilson made that a cause for our joining the Allies in World War I. In the early years of the war, the United States made quite a fuss over Poland, but at Teheran and later at Yalta, we agreed to Russia's superior position in that country. At Potsdam, we finished the job of giving Poland to Russia.

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR
"BUT I really phoned to warn you we're arriving on schedule this evening," Liza told Michael.
"I have suddenly been called to Kansas City."
"All flights canceled. Michael, I feel wrecked about Abby. I've hurt her."
"Then why did you start playing games?"
"That's my affair, and has nothing to do with you. Will you do me a favor?"
"And get my throat cut? Do me a favor, sweetheart, take a running jump in your private river, preferably from a terrace."
"I mean this, and I promise I won't keep the whimsy up long."
"Belladonna, arsenic, Paris green, strychnine, chloral hydrate —that's what your whimsies are made of, Lucretia."
"Listen, I do promise. Things are working out, or will soon. But I can't have Abby upset again.
Call Robert Fleming, ask him to come tonight, if he has a date, ask him. No matter who it is—Dracula, King Kong, or even Hiram Mason."
"Hiram Mason? She doesn't know him!"
"She met him at our semi-announcement party, remember?"
He said seriously. "See her, Liza. Patty's a nice girl."
"I know it and Hiram will find it out. And everyone you know of, even if we have to hang them from the rusty draperies and sit on the unclean floor. It will make it easier for Abby."
"I don't owe her anything, nothing good, that is."
"She'd like you if you'd let her.
You deliberately annoy Abby—and in addition, she's terrified on my account."
"I'm the one who should be terrified."
"Michael, please, just this once?"
"All right, I know when I'm licked. We'll throw a block party.
It will be uproarious. Stop at the package store, dear, and send over a case of pop. Make mine sarsaparilla."
"Michael, if the book's accepted, you have justification for celebration."
"And if it isn't, we can have a wake."
"Good-bye," said Liza in a far-away voice. "I'm about to be overcome with the heat or the humility."
She left the stationer's and invaded a store from which she sent assorted refreshments to Michael's address.
"May I use your telephone, please?" she asked the clerk.
It was not a public telephone.
She was ushered into a small cheese-redolent office and sat down at a battered desk, looked in a telephone directory, and called Patty.
"Did I wake you, Patty?"
"No. Is that you, Liza?" Patty groaned. She said, "I have a business appointment. In a fur coat, natch. Oh, brother."
"Patty, Michael's going to ask you to a party tonight. Please come. Are you planning to go out with Hiram Mason, by any chance?"

"No, I'm not, and not by chance."
"What do you mean?"
"He has a television set."
"I know. Etchings have become the old look."
"Who does he think he is?"
"Hiram Mason. Except in those moments when he wonders, as we all do."
Patty said, "He made me so mad. I thought he was different."
"No man is, dear, consistently."
"But I liked him," Patty said sadly.
Liza said, "I'd come see you now but Abby's waiting at home. Please come to Michael's tonight. Never mind Hiram."
"Liza," Patty asked, "what are you going to do?"
She said, "Go back to sleep, Patty. I'm just going to cash a check."
She left the grocery shop, took a cab and turned up at Mr. Mason's bank. Admitted to his office, she smiled, looking fresh and cool as the grocer's lettuce. She asked, "May I talk with you a minute, Hiram?"
"Of course, of course. I am happy to see you." He fussed with chairs, proffered cigarettes, absently. Then he leaned back and placed his finger tips precisely together. "Come for a loan?" he inquired, enjoying his little joke.
"Not today. But I may have to.
Remember the Sheraton sofa I told you about? Did I say I'd also found some eighteenth-century chintz? Hiram, will you take Abby and me to Michael's tonight?
He's having a party, and wants you to come. I said I'd ask."
"I'd be delighted..." His beam clouded up, he cleared his throat.
"I forgot," he said, frowning.
"I'm afraid—that is, it had slipped my mind."
She regarded him pityingly.
"Don't lie, Hiram. You're so honest you do it badly. Transparent as Scotch Tape. You're afraid Patty Palmer will be there?" she asked.
"Miss Palmer?" He tried unsuccessfully to look as if he had never heard of her. "What makes you ask that?"
She said softly, "It's not fair.
Hiram. You're much older, and you know your way around. Patty may seem to, but she doesn't. She's a nice girl, who's had a difficult time in New York, as nice girls who are also pretty, usually do.
She isn't hard, she only tries to be. I believed that, with your knowledge of human nature, you understood her."
He felt like an accordion inflated and deflated. He asked, his heart sinking, "Have you seen her? Has she...? That is, I mean, I can't imagine what you are thinking..."
"Patty and I are friends," said Liza, in gentle reproach. "Naturaly, I confide in me."
"But there's been nothing to confide."
"Was that your fault?" she inquired sharply. "Really, Hiram?"
She rose before he could speak, and said, "You needn't answer."
Which was as well. It was one of those questions like, "Have you stopped beating your wife? An-member of the congregation called out, "Who couldn't do that? Reverend."

It took the minister all week to recover from his blunder, but the following Sunday he mounted the pulpit and bravely announced, "Let us continue from last Sunday, when I told you how he took five loaves and two fishes and fed five thousand people." At this point he glared at the man who had interrupted him the previous Sunday and said, "I suppose you could do that, too." His tormentor, utterly unabashed, replied, "I certainly could. I'd just use up what you had left over from last Sunday."

On one of his recent radio programs, Groucho Marx admitted that the last time he got married he was so old that the guests didn't throw rice: they threw vitamin pills.

DIET AND HEALTH
Premature Infant Needs Care

By HERMAN M. BUNDESEN, M.D.

THE premature infant enters the world with two strikes against him. Weak, tiny and undeveloped, his chance for life depends on the care he is given. At a minimum, he needs experienced nursing, breast milk, protection against infection, and constant warmth.

Even with all this, his hold on life is precarious and will continue so until he gains a certain amount of strength and weight.
For this reason, many attempts have been made to speed the growth of such babies. Several methods for accomplishing this have been tried. One is the use of methyl testosterone, a gland extract, and it has been reported that its use may be of value in decreasing the expected death rate in these babies and in shortening the period of hospitalization. Another method is the giving of the fluid part of the blood, or plasma, by mouth as a supplemental feeding.

Lost Less Weight
It was noted that infants given the plasma lost less weight, vomited less, and suffered less from irritation of the stomach.

In an effort to determine whether or not the combination of the two methods might not accomplish even more, a study was made of 34 premature infants. One group of babies was given the usual care, together with an injection of liver extract into a muscle every other day.
The second group was given the methyl testosterone by mouth, and was also given the blood plasma by mouth. The plasma was given in the bottle feedings.

It was noted that the infants given the usual care and liver extract gained about one-fourth of an ounce a day. They remained in the hospital for an average of 58 days. The babies who received the testosterone and plasma gained an average of three-fourths of an ounce per day and remained in the hospital for an average of only about 25 days.
They were back to birth weight in an average of two days. These babies were kept on the testosterone and plasma until they weighed about five and one-half pounds. At that time, they were discharged from the hospital. No ill effects from the treatment were noted.

During recent years we have made enormous strides in the care of premature babies, as a result of which thousands of little lives are saved each year.
With this new method, an even greater number can perhaps be saved. At any rate, it holds out promise of bringing them out of the critical period much more quickly and, for this reason alone, merits further study.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
A Reader: I have pains in my chest; also pains under my shoulders. Could this be due to pleurisy?
Answer: The pain you describe could be due to pleurisy or inflammation of the lining membrane of the chest cavity. There are other possible causes, such as a disturbance of the lungs or heart, or some disorder affecting the muscles and nerves in the chest wall.

Booth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ehman of Columbus. Dr. E. Clyde Xander performed the double ring ceremony before a candle-lit altar decorated with white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride approached the altar on the arm of her brother, Ray Creighton of London, who gave her in marriage.

Preceding the bride down the aisle were her maid of honor, Miss Mary Coontz, and bridesmaid, Mrs. Harry Zimmerman.

Best man for Mr. Booth was Joseph Cohen. Seating the guests were William Beaver, Robert Ogle and Harry Carson.

Hostesses at the reception in the church parlors following the ceremony were Miss Ann Grube, Mrs. Robert Bentley, Mrs. William C. Arter, and Miss Delores Murphy.

During the refreshment hour a birthday cake centered the lace-covered table. The cake, mounted on a musical stand, had been the gift of Mrs. John Mader.

White tapers in crystal holders were lighted. Mrs. N. E. Coffland served as assisting hostess.

Just as the birthday cake was being cut, Miss Mader received a call from a cousin, Paul Schleyer of Washington D. C., wishing her a happy birthday.

TOURISTS STILL WELCOME Light Industry Wanted
By 'Winter Playground'

MIAMI, Dec. 11—Miami's customary bid for play-minded vacationists is being augmented to day by an ambitious campaign for industrial development.

The Tropical City, billed since the 1920s as the nation's winter playground, is awakening to the fact that all play and little work makes Jack in insufficient quantities to support a population headed rapidly toward the half-million mark.

The idea for developing industry in the land of palm trees and sandy beaches is not entirely new, but its transformation into actuality has only been effected in the last few months.

Specifically, the city wants to attract light industry that will add to the area's economic stability without blighting the gay vacationist atmosphere with unpleasant smoke and other hindrances that heavy industry might bring.

THE CITY sponsored a big manufacturers' exposition a few months ago that brought nearly $2 million in unsolicited orders to the exhibitors and resulted in plans for setting up new or branch plants in Miami by several northern and Midwest interests.

The industrial development drive got another shot in the arm from Industrialist Charles F. Kettering, who recently predicted that Miami can eventually become the industrial hub of the Western Hemisphere when solar energy is fully adapted to industrial purposes.

Kettering, a pioneer in the field of solar energy research, spends much of his time in Miami and he believes the sun is the potential source of untold energy that can be adapted to keep the wheels of world industry turning.

Despite the new accent on industrial development, City Publicity Director Holte Agey made it clear today that Miami has no intention of lessening its efforts to boost the tourist business. He said:

"We are aware of the fact that much of our present economy and many of our established businesses—such as hotels and restaurants—must look to tourists for a large part of their support."

"But new industry and more year-round payrolls are necessary to support the rapid growth we are experiencing."

Elinor Williams' Teen Tips

There's no date—question so puzzling for high school girls as the Santa-time one: "Shall I give HIM a gift?" and "What should it be?"

Your date should be the one to give a gift first, girls. If he's never given you a gift, don't embarrass him by being first with a Christmas package. Instead, send him a friendly holiday greeting card. But if he has already given you a birthday or graduation gift—or if you "go steady"—and you think he's planning to give you a present—it's a good idea to have a gift wrapped and ready for him when he brings yours.

Avoid personal or expensive gifts; they're not considered good taste. Here are some suggestions for gifts that are correct for girls to give boys without breaking the bank:

To wear—Tie (plaids and wools are smart). Tie pin or clip. Matching tie clip and cuff link set. Initialed handkerchiefs. A wool scarf. A white silk or rayon scarf for "best."

To use—Pen or automatic pencil. Billfold. Pocket-size folder for snapshots. Records by his favorite band. A holder or album for records. A leather case to hold cuff links, studs, etc. (if he ever wears a tuxedo). A leather case with a comb and nail file.

A leather kit with several manicure implements including clipper, file, scissors, etc. (boys who go to prep school and college like these). A leather case to hold shaving gear, etc. (also for boys who go to school away from home). A canasta set.

Hand-knitted gift (if you like to knit)—An argyle tie. Wool socks. Scarf. Sleeveless sweater. To read—Books of non-fiction, adventure, travel, science, aviation, radio, or on a sport or hobby. A magazine subscription—if you know his favorite one.

For free knitting directions for an argyle tie, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.

Wedding Ring To Fight Polio

FOSTORIA, Dec. 11—The wedding ring, which was to adorn the finger of a Fostoria bride, will be sold to aid the fight against the disease that took her life.

The wedding band was to be used in the marriage ceremony of Miss Bessie Medley, Fostoria's first polio victim of the year, and Ray Spencer of Ypsilanti, Mich.

Following funeral services for his fiancée, Spencer handed the wedding band to Jacob Preis, director of the Fostoria branch of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Spencer asked that the ring be sold and the money turned over to the foundation to aid in fighting the disease.

The plant from which castor oil is obtained is a native of tropical Africa.

Scio Pottery Yule Party To Cost $30,000

SCIO, Dec. 11 — The Scio Pottery Co., world's largest producer of white potteryware, is playing Santa Claus again this year—and in the usual big way.

Scio President Lew Reese is taking his 1025 employees and their families to Pittsburgh Dec. 23 for a $30,000 Christmas party.

A special train has been chartered for the trip. In Pittsburgh Scio will throw a party with all the trimmings—dinner, floor show and dance.

Scio employees now rank among the best paid in the pottery industry. In 1946 they received $705,000 at their Christmas party. The following year fire leveled the pottery plant just before the annual party.

The loss was not covered by insurance and Reese lost almost $1 million. But the entire town showed its gratitude for past favors by aiding in reconstruction and Scio was back in production in two months.

The solution, reported the Air Materiel Command here, was a spherical plexiglass visor which is riveted at either side of the helmet and may be pushed up out of the way when not in use.

The visor locks in place when pulled down over the eyes and makes it possible for a pilot to keep his oxygen equipment with him in a high-altitude jump.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher
INS Foreign Director

Heavy new pressure upon the United States for active, vigorous measures to carry out President Truman's plan for improvement of backward areas throughout the world is anticipated if the United Nations succeeds in localizing the Korean conflict.

Most major international undertakings have been shunted aside because of the grave threat to world peace inherent in the Far Eastern conflict.

These include the Schuman Plan for integration of French and German iron and coal resources, the Council of Europe, elimination of European trade and tariff barriers and even the long-delayed Austrian peace treaty, although deputies still are working on that problem.

And Mr. Truman's Point Four has been sidetracked with the rest. The issues of social betterment, education, increased health services and agricultural development in fellow nations can hardly be considered properly on a battlefield.

But it seems entirely certain that if and when the Korean war clouds are cleared away, even temporarily, voices will be raised in many quarters of the globe to say that except for all-out war the only weapon against Communism is aid to the depressed classes as proof of Democratic values.

IT IS PERFECTLY true that spokesmen in foreign countries often have an extraordinary facility for proposing ways and means of spending American dollars.

Yet it is equally a fact that the Point Four program, when first enunciated, aroused tremendous enthusiasm—not only among the ordinary people who saw a chance of their lot being improved but among governments which were finding that for economic as well as moral reasons, the old colonial system had to come to an end.

There are observers who will say that the situations which prevail in Korea, Indo-China, Malaya, Burma and the Dutch East Indies (now Indonesia), never could have arisen if proper steps had been taken toward social improvement.

They point to the undeniable fact that Communism has stepped into one vacuum after another.

Its propagandists have harped upon the alleged advantages to be found in Marxism. Natives have been pictured as exploited and downtrodden, and the Russians, by holding out promises of what they choose to call "peoples' republics" have conjured up rosy visions of prosperity and peace.

The hollowness of these pretensions is clearly evident to anyone in a position to judge. But when a promise given to a starving man is accompanied by a sack of rice or a bushel of potatoes, it is something else again.

Communism to date has been able to work out a seemingly foolproof system of combining propaganda with largesse.

THE ENORMOUS areas of the world now under Red control make it possible to "rob Peter to pay Paul." Stocks can be taken from one occupied country to meet the needs of one that is merely on the target list. And while this rotative system of internal economy obviously cannot go on forever, its chances for more or less indefinite success are obvious.

In its initial concept, the Truman proposal recognized that poverty and distrust were the most fertile fields for Red expansion. The painstaking efforts made by Moscow to prove to each subjugated country is far better off than it was before have reached a stage almost ludicrous to the Western mind.

Yet the absence of any signs of open anti-Communist revolt in satellite countries is proof that the Russians have not been lacking in success.

There is an old and somewhat callous saying: "Feed them or fight them."

Basically, Point Four was designed to make human life better and more profitable, thus eliminating poverty, surely one of the major causes of war throughout the ages. If the slightest opportunity presents itself, the issue will be raised again with increasing clamor in the future.

TV Director Goes On Trial For Shooting

CARMEL, N. Y., Dec. 11—Herbert Gehr, 39-year-old television director, who shot and killed his wife when she surprised him in a cabin love nest with another woman, goes on trial today on a charge of second degree murder.

The other woman, Mrs. Dorothea Matthews, who fled the with Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Roese.

cabin nude after the shooting, is expected to be called as a state witness.

However, the comely Mrs. Matthews has proclaimed her love for Gehr and declared that she will stick by him during the trial.

Mrs. Matthews, who was engaged in a lengthy legal battle with her wealthy husband, Mark, at the time of the shooting, has since obtained a divorce.

Mrs. Andrea Gehr, 30, was leading private detectives in a raid on the mountain cabin for divorce evidence when a bullet cut her down. Gehr, who was later captured in his car at a roadblock set up by state police, said he fired through the door with a rifle in the belief that prowlers or his wife's "boy friend" were trying to break in.

POLICE ESCORT NEEDED

Near-Riot Brings End To Wrestling Program

Wrestling fans who missed Saturday night's mat show in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum also missed a near-riot.

It came as an encores to the final match of the evening as galleryites tangled with the defeated wrestler who had to secure a police escort to his dressing room.

The final match was between the Mighty Titan and Panchito Romero.

The event, booked for a 60-minute time limit and two-out-of-three falls, saw the Mighty Titan wrestle not a single orthodox hold.

But his bag of brutal tricks was bulging.

Romero was the butt to continual eye-gouges, hair-pulls and bare knuckle blows. But the barrel-chested, goateed Romero won the match.

ONE FALL CAME when the bully Titan was disqualified. The second was awarded on a body slam which followed a return-the-compliment demonstration of the Titan's own tactics.

But the telltale third fall did not end the joust.

Violently objecting to Referee Solomon Bey's decision, Titan locked horns with Romero just as the slim but loud-voiced gallery started toward exits.

And the Mr. Milquetoast Solomon Bey also took a hand in the unscheduled extra round. So did numerous jeering and taunting galleryites who poked jibes at the Titan.

The Titan-Romero-Bey scramble took place in the ring.

Paul Brown Tops List Of Guesses

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — The surprise resignation of Ohio State University Football Coach Wesley Fesler has Columbus in a tailspin of speculation today with Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns coach and former Buck grid mentor, as the number one candidate for the job.

Second in the line of guessing is Harry Strobel, the Bucks' head freshman football coach for the last three years and a former Barberton high school mentor.

Fesler vacated the post Saturday night. Athletic Director Dick Larkins, attending the weekend Western Conference sessions in Chicago, said the whole thing came as a "distinct and sudden surprise."

Ohio State President Howard L. Bevis issued the resignation announcement Saturday night and Fesler had a 400-word statement ready.

Fesler said he was ready to take a business offer from John Galbreath, part owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Fesler blamed ill health and the pressure of winning for his action. He threatened to quit Ohio State before the last Rose Bowl game, but remained with the university when his salary was hiked from $12,500 to $15,000. His new post is reported to be worth $25,000 a year.

OHIO STATE Publicity Director Wilbur Snapp said in Chicago that the principal reason for Fesler's resignation was the nervous tension which the 40-year-old coach attributed to football.

Fesler came to Ohio State in 1947 and won two, lost six and tied one that season. His team won six of nine games in 1948 and went on to win seven, lose one and tie two to share the Big Ten championship in 1949. The squad won the Rose Bowl game that year. This year, his squad won six and lost six.

Brown loomed immediately as a possible successor. The 41-year-old pro football coach quit the Buckeyes early in 1944 to enter the Navy after three impressive coaching years and, upon his discharge, took over the grid leadership of the professional Browns.

He led them to four straight All-America Conference championships and yesterday they took a 45-21 victory over the Washington Redskins to make them eligible for the National Pro League playoff.

Brown, who was boomed for the OSU leadership in 1947 when Fesler succeeded Paul Bixler, said he "is still under contract to the owners of the Cleveland team" and declined further comment.

The Ohio State board of trustees is expected to be very active in the naming of a new coach by the athletic board. However, officials indicated that it "may be some time" before a successor is named.

STROBEL DECLINED comment except to say that "anything pro or con will have to come from Dick Larkins."

Glenn "Tiger" Ellison, Middletown high school football coach and president of the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, said he will send letters to members "encouraging the coaches to make their views known to the Ohio State athletic department."

Ellison said his first choice will be Brown and the second, Charles (Chuck) Mather, Massillon mentor who was named Ohio high school football coach of the year in 1948 and 1950.

Hanover Shoe Master Elected Head Of USTA

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — The spotlight of the harness racing world is on Columbus today where the United States Trotting Association executives are meeting with a number of other side-wheelers groups.

The 29 directors of the USTA also promoted Don R. Millard of Columbus from vice-president to executive vice-president.

Today's USTA sessions will feature the action of the board on recommendations of the rules and finance committee which met yesterday.

Sheppard, owner of one of the nation's largest breeding farms, was president of the National Association of Shoe Manufacturers four years. He is a director of the Hambletonian Society and a member of the Trotting Horse Club of America. Sheppard's stables include Billy Direct, 1:55, the world's fastest harness horse.

During the session of the Lexington Trotting Association, the group completed its 1951 racing schedule and announced that the purse of the famed Red Mile will be greater than ever before.

Members of five prominent Grand Circuit fairs staged their annual meeting in conjunction with the USTA sessions. Known as the Big Five, the groups meeting are representatives of Delaware, O., Springfield, Ill., Du Quoin, Ill., Sedalia, Mo., and Indianapolis.

Big Ten Chiefs Want No Change In Bowl Pact

CHICAGO, Dec. 11 — Western Conference faculty representatives returned to their respective schools today amid indications the Rose Bowl football pact with the West Coast Conference will be renewed—but only if there are no changes.

Kenneth Little, Wisconsin delegate to the Big Ten's faculty representatives committee, said any proposal to allow the same team to play in the post-season classic in consecutive years or with only one year between appearances will meet with opposition.

The present contract stipulates that a Western Conference champion can only meet the West Coast title-holders once every three years. The Big Ten has been under pressure for some time to arrange for its champion in the bowl game each season.

An informal vote on a straight renewal of the pact indicated it would be approved with a safe margin although an actual decision was postponed until a meeting can be arranged with the West Coast Conference after the New Year's Day game.

Players Named For Annual Tilt

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — The Ohio High School Football Coaches Association has named 25 players and head coaches for each squad of the annual all-senior north-south high school football classic, tentatively scheduled Aug. 11 in Middletown.

The directors from 16 districts of the association yesterday picked Chuck Thackara, coach of Hamilton's once-beaten Big Blue, to lead the Southern "rebels," while Junie Farrell of Barberton's once-beaten Magics was selected to pilot the northern eleven.

No player from the South Central Ohio League was elected to the honor squad.

Upsetter Quint From Missouri To Meet Bucks

While Coach Floyd Stahl's "on again" quintet defeated the tall but inexperienced Marquettiers, Missouri made headlines with a stunning 54-37 turnabout over City College of New York. The setback came in the titlists own back yard and broke a 12-game winning skin carried over from last season.

Thus Missouri served notice it was the team to beat and the Buckeyes are first in line for the opportunity. Coach Stalcup's team lost its opener to Washington university of St. Louis, 45-42 while Ohio State yielded its initial battle to Kansas State. The Buckeyes came back to take Butler and Marquette, however, and have indicated they are primed for the not-so-tall Missourians.

Tonight's visitors gave Ohio a scare last year, the Bucks eking out a 47-46 triumph. Most of that team is back to tantalize the Scarlet with its "possession of the ball" tactics which wrecked CCNY's dream of conquest. The maneuver is simply holding the ball until a favorable shot presents itself.

Bearded Davids Score Win In Sunday Contest

House of David cagers clowned themselves into a low-scoring 30-25 victory over Wile Motors of Columbus Sunday in Pickaway Fairgrounds Coliseum.

The Wiles sped to a handy 7-2 first period lead in the exhibition tilt, maintaining a 13-12 margin at the half.

The shooting antics of Roth for the House of David, however, gave the bearded pros the lead in the third stanza and eventually the win.

Dominating both play and floor jabber, Roth bucketed 11 points in the game to lead the winning team, while Neil Johnson, towering Wile center, paced the losers with eight points.

CINCINNATI BASICS basketballers whipped into a photo-finish 47-45 victory over invading Columbus Ben Brews during the preliminary engagement.

The Basics team was paced by Jack Hennis, who accounted for 18 points during the fracas. J. Thrush was high for the losers with 10 points.

Only about 150 fans turned out for the afternoon of basketball, the low gate attributed by observers to failure of sponsors to promote the affair.

Bob Murphy Collects KO

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 — Irish Bob Murphy, the light heavyweight from San Diego, remained an unknown quantity today despite his second straight eastern knockout.

Murphy kayoed Jimmy Beau of New Canaan, Conn., in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round Friday in Madison Square Garden. It was his 11th straight KO and his 49th in 55 pro fights.

However, Beau—a natural middleweight—weighed 165½ to Murphy's 170 and was at a distinct disadvantage in height and reach.

'Ambassador' Betty Riddle To Report Here Wednesday

High School To Be Scene For Address

Chagrin Falls Lad Also On Program

Pickaway County will receive its first formal report from its "ambassador" to Denmark Wednesday evening.

Miss Betty Jean Riddle of near Orient, who spent the Summer in Denmark is to speak in Circleville high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

She will be accompanied by Richard Taylor of Chagrin Falls, the other Ohio 4-H Club member who spent the Summer abroad. He was sent to Greece and returned to America by way of Yugoslavia.

Miss Riddle and Taylor were the two Ohio farm youths selected to represent the state in the 1950 International Farm Youth Exchange program.

Miss Riddle is a farm girl with an active interest in agricultural welfare.

HER HOME IS on a farm near Orient, where she was an active 4-H Club member and won the state 4-H health contest for girls in 1947.

She is a junior in the college of agriculture at Ohio State University, and is majoring in rural sociology. During the Summer of 1949, she was employed as a 4-H club agent in Brown County.

Miss Riddle was selected last Spring by a student-faculty committee at Ohio State to participate in the IFYE program. This committee considered her outstanding achievements in school, college and community activities as well as her interest in foreign affairs, in choosing her.

Miss Riddle left the United States in early June, spent the Summer living on farms in Denmark and returned to this country in November. For several months, she will travel about the state relating her experiences to youth and adult groups.

Pickaway County got an early preview of her experiences through a series of articles written during the Summer especially for The Circleville Herald.

This trip was made possible through voluntary contributions of groups and individuals to the International Farm Youth Exchange fund. These funds also made possible trips to America for approximately twice as many European farm youths. There were 50 American delegates in the 1950 program from 26 states.

No government funds were expended in furthering the IFYE program, and the Agricultural Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture and the land grant colleges and universities in the states concerned provided the administrative sponsorship and leadership for the program.

OVERALL PURPOSE of the project is to further international understanding by providing opportunities for American farm youth to see and experience the life and culture of rural people in foreign countries, and for the foreign youth to learn similarly, about America.

The IFYE program is to be continued in 1951, and groups and individuals interested in contributing to its support may send their donations to the Agricultural Extension Service, Ohio State University, Columbus 10, Ohio.

Taylor is a farm boy with an active interest in agricultural welfare.

His home is in Geauga County near Chagrin Falls, where he was an active 4-H club member for eight years. Now a senior in the college of agriculture at Ohio State, he is majoring in dairy husbandry. He is also active in campus organizations, and last year was president of the University 4-H Club. A veteran of World War II, he served 2½ years in the U. S. Airforce with duty overseas.

Taylor left the United States in early June, spent the Summer living on farms and farm schools in Greece and returned to this country last month.

CHICAGO, Dec. 11.—Ernest Hammermeister of Chicago asked for a divorce today because, he said, two years can seem a lifetime when a man is married to a woman who threatens his life.

Hammermeister claimed that his wife, Patricia, 35, had:

2. Menaced him with a steel letter opener.
3. Told him she had poisoned his food.
4. Sent him to the hospital after beating him with her shoe.

The Hammermeisters were married May 12, 1948.

Bricker Wants Democrats In On Oust-Acheson Deal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—Senate Republicans were asked today to give Democrats a chance to join in the drive to oust Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Sen. Bricker, (R) Ohio, said he is against making the Acheson-ouster drive a Republican Party matter. He contended that Democrats have as much at stake as Republicans because the "security" of the country is involved.

But administration Democrats in the Senate were understood preparing a foreign policy counter-offensive against Republicans as a result of the Acheson issue.

Rep. Scott, (R) Pa., former GOP national committee chairman, already has introduced an oust-Acheson resolution in the House.

The Senate GOP Policy Committee decided to summon all 43 Republican senators to a conference this week to take a party stand on a resolution demanding that President Truman fire Acheson.

A NUMBER OF Republicans predicted conference approval of the resolution.

Sen. Mundt, (R) S. D., said the vote will be overwhelmingly for Acheson's discharge. He said the U. S. court of appeals action in upholding the conviction of Alger Hiss will be one more reason for the resolution to carry.

Administration Democrats said that if the Republican conference votes for Acheson's discharge, they will fire a broad-side on the Senate floor that will "put blame where it belongs." They apparently refer to reverses in Korea.

If the oust-Acheson resolution fails to carry in the GOP conference, Sen. Bridges, (R) N. H., said he and a few colleagues plan to bring the matter to the floor for a showdown. He said he would offer a motion of censure.

Bricker said the Bridges approach is better, Bricker declared.

"This isn't a partisan matter. The nation is impelled by the stupidity of the State Department and Acheson neither has been secretary of state or a leading figure in formulating policy which has led to the present debacle."

Repairs Made To Gas Line

TOLEDO, Dec. 11.—Repairs were completed today on a 15-foot section of an Ohio fuelgas pipeline which exploded yesterday, threatening a serious drop in gas pressure.

The explosion in the line occurred about a mile and a half north of Pemberville in Wood County. It was not discovered until nearly four hours later.

Former Localite Is Murder Victim In California

A preliminary hearing will be held Tuesday in Sacramento, Calif., for Earl D. Egbert, 34, accused of slashing the throat of his wife, Margaret Lucille, 38.

Egbert, who called police to tell them he had killed his wife at the home of his mother "because she was involved in a narcotics ring," was granted a continuance in Sacramento municipal court to permit him to hire an attorney.

Funeral services for Mrs. Egbert were to have been held Monday afternoon with burial in Forest cemetery, Circleville.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hegle, now of Columbus, formerly lived in Circleville. Mrs. Egbert is a graduate of Circleville high school, class of 1929.

The slaying occurred in the home of Mrs. Myrtle Egbert and was witnessed by the mother and Egbert's sister, Mrs. Maurine Holley. They told police Egbert had placed his hands around the victim's neck in what

Then, Mrs. Egbert told police: "The blood started spurting from her neck."

POLICE SAID Egbert, a sugar refinery worker in Clarksburg, Calif., handed them a pearl-handled pocket knife when they arrived at the home in response to his call. Police said he told them a rambling story about his wife being involved in a narcotics ring and said ring members were "threatening to kill him. He also insisted coffee served at his mother's home had been poisoned."

Egbert has been examined by Dr. R. B. Toller, a California state psychiatrist, and declared legally sane, but suffering from a persecution complex.

Fellow workers at the sugar plant told authorities that Egbert has been "acting strangely" for some time.
